Agreement to end embargo reported

TRIPOLI, Libya (AP) — Arab oil producers have agreed to end their embargo against the United States, a high ranking Libyan official has reported.

Official announcement of the decision reached at a meeting of oil ministers in a Tripoli hotel Wednesday was postponed, possibly until a further meeting in Vienna on Sunday, the sources said. They explained Libya remained opposed to ending the ban and refused to permit the announcement on its territory.

Tripoli radio, in the first account of the meeting, reported that Syria had opposed lifting the embargo against the United States and said governments which proposed this were treacherous.

The broadcast made no mention of a final decision. It said that Algeria, which had been reluctant about cancelling the embargo, supported a proposal to lift it for a two-month trial period.

According to Arab sources, the embargo against the Netherlands would not be lifted.

A brief communique said the ministers adjourned "to consult their governments." A Libyan source said they would meet again Sunday in Vienna during a price-fixing session of the Organization of Petroleum Exporting Countries and may announce the Tripoli decision then.

Several participants in the meeting said a "positive decision" on the embargo was taken, but they declined to give details.

In Washington, a spokesman for the Nixon Administration indicated it would release reserve oil supplies to give the American economy a boost as soon as Arab oil starts heading for the United States again. But one high official of the Federal Energy Office said a key question was whether the Arabs would resume production at the pre-October level or maintain the cuts of 25 per cent or more they ordered to put pressure on countries not affected by the embargo.

Sources in Tripoli gave no indication whether full production would be restored. But Libya's undersecretary for petroleum affairs said he believed the embargo would remain in force against the Netherlands "because Rotterdam is a key oil port, and keeping pressure on the Netherlands is a way of keeping pressure on all of Europe."

Before the embargo was decreed on Oct. 17, the United States imported between 10 and 14 per cent of its oil from Arab states. The reported decision to start this oil flowing again was a major diplomatic victory for Secretary of State Henry A. Kissinger and for President Anwar Sadat of Egypt.

Sadat had campaigned vigorously for such action to reward the United States for its help in getting Israeli troops to withdraw from the Suez Canal and to spur American efforts to arrange a similar disengagement of Israeli and Syrian forces on the Golan Heights. He was opposed by Libya's fiery president, Col. Moammar Khadafy, and President Houari Boumedienne of Algeria. But he apparently won over King Faisal of Saudi Arabia, the key man since his country is the biggest supplier of Arab oil to the U.S.

Kissinger has not received word on embargo agreement

WASHINGTON (AP) — Secretary of State Henry A. Kissinger said today he has received no word yet on whether the Arab oil-producing countries intend to lift their embargo against the United States.

"Your speculation will be as good as mine," Kissinger said in an unusual personal appearance at the daily State Department briefing for correspondents.

Earlier in the day, Vice President Gerald R. Ford said he understood the embargo had been lifted. He said he had talked with Kissinger before making the remarks in a television interview.

But Kissinger told newsmen: "There must have been some misunderstanding of my remarks."

The two men were together Wednesday night at a dinner given by King Hussein.

"It's my understanding that the oil embargo has been lifted," Ford said in a televised interview.

But other ranking officials, who declined to be identified, cautioned that they had no official word on whether or when the embargo might be lifted— or whether oil exporting countries would meet in Vienna, Austria, or in Tripoli, Libya, on Sunday.

The Vice President said he had talked earlier today with Secretary of State Henry Kissinger who has been leading efforts to have the Arab oil embargo, invoked since the Mideast war began last October, lifted.

The State Department had no official comment but officials there said they were encouraged by the word they had received. There was no elaboration.

"The particular announcement, the official announcement, will come at a later date, a day or two from now," Ford said.

In Tripoli, Libya, a high-ranking Libyan official said earlier that the Arabs have agreed to end their oil embargo against the United States and the decision may be announced Sunday in Vienna.

Ford made his statement in an interview on the CBS Morning News program.

He did not elaborate further on the oil question.

The vice president also said he does not think the House will vote to impeach President Nixon and doesn't think Nixon will resign.

Ford said he does not anticipate any subpoena show-down between the White House and the House Judiciary Committee studying impeachment as long as the committee limits its requests for evidence to items relevant to specific charges.

Asked his assessment of the probability of impeachment, Ford said: "My judgment is ... that it's probably not going to be done by the House."

"I think political pressure is being exerted on members of the House, and when you have political pressures, sometimes the ebb and flow of hopes will depend on the pressure," he said.

Treasury secretary resigning

WASHINGTON (AP) — President Nixon accepted with "a sense of personal regret" today the resignation of Treasury Secretary George P. Shultz, effective in early May.

Announcing the impending departure of the last member of Nixon's original cabinet to still hold federal office, Deputy Press Secretary Gerald L. Warren said the President feels Shultz "has served with great distinction," starting as secretary of labor in 1969.

Noting that Shultz has talked several times of a desire to return to private life, Warren said the 53-year-old economist would continue to "assume special assignments" after leaving the Treasury post he has held since June 12, 1972.

Warren described Shultz as "a pillar of this administration and this government" and said Nixon has asked him to express "our enormous respect, affection and appreciation for Secretary Shultz."

Asked if Deputy Treasury Secretary William E. Simon, who also serves as the federal energy chief, would be in line to succeed Shultz, Warren said, "I won't go down a check list of names." He added that Simon obviously is well regarded in administration circles.

Besides serving as Treasury chief, Shultz held the dual appointment of assistant to the President for economic affairs — a position he will also leave.

Shultz, 53, has become one of the two most powerful men in the Nixon administration, along with Secretary of State Henry Kissinger.

Shultz' resignation is understood to reflect his weariness after five pressure-packed years in the administration rather than any disagreement with the Nixon administration or its policies.

Shultz was the first economist ever to serve as Treasury secretary. He has indicated he would like to return to university life after leaving the administration.

He was at the University of Chicago as dean of the business school when named to serve as Secretary of Labor in Nixon's first cabinet in 1969.

He became the first director of the new Office of Management and Budget in July 1970 and served there until June 1972 when Nixon named him Secretary of the Treasury to succeed John B. Connally.

Shultz also occupies a major role as an assistant to the President, charged with coordinating both domestic and international economic policy, and is chairman of the Council on Economic Policy.

In addition, Shultz is chairman of the East-West Trade Policy Committee whose role is to develop increased trade between the United States and the Soviet Union.

In meeting his many responsibilities, his international travel has been second only to that of Kissinger among top members of the administration.

Shultz is scheduled to travel to Santiago, Chile next month for a meeting of the Inter-American Development bank and to Kuala Lumpur, Malaysia.

Buis murder case suspect apprehended

The chief suspect in the Charles L. Buis murder case has been apprehended, Pettis County Sheriff Emmett Fairfax said Thursday.

Fairfax identified the suspect as Mary Baber, 33, Buis' former girlfriend. She was taken into custody Monday night in Sanford, N.C., on a charge of driving while intoxicated. She remains in jail in Sanford.

The sheriff said he would consult with Prosecuting Attorney Gary Fleming Thursday afternoon on the progress of the case, but declined to say whether he would expect any charges to be filed against Miss Baber.

"We're going to review the case up to this point and see what other measures to take from here," Fairfax said.

Buis, 40, a former sergeant at Whiteman AFB, was shot through the heart with a .22 caliber firearm in late December. His partially decomposed body was found Feb. 23 in his parked camper at Bob's Camper Sales, South Highway 65.

Miss Baber was seen driving Buis' 1967 Chevrolet in Memphis, Tenn., on Dec. 27. She was arrested that day on three driving charges and spent four days in jail before being released on Dec. 31. The car remained in Memphis and Miss Baber's whereabouts had been unknown until Monday night.

Buis' car disappeared from the camper sales lot about the same time he is believed to have been murdered, authorities believe.

Fairfax said he has been in contact with authorities in Sanford, N.C., since the beginning of the investigation. He said that after Miss Baber was apprehended Monday night, officials there phoned him. Fairfax said Miss Baber had previously lived in Sanford and is a native of North Carolina.

The sheriff declined to say whether Miss Baber has commented on the case or has given authorities a statement.

Fairfax said at this time he has no detainer on Miss Baber but will be notified by Sanford authorities if she post bond on the driving charge. Her trial date on the driving charge is set for March 29, he said.

Fairfax also said both Miss Baber and Buis had visited Buis' relatives in Kentucky late last year. He said he learned from Kentucky authorities that Miss Baber might be living in North Carolina.

In another aspect of the case, Fairfax explained Thursday that the "evidence" which was sent to a laboratory of the State Highway Patrol Tuesday was a .22 caliber rifle owned by Buis and found by Memphis police on Dec. 27.

Fairfax said he is awaiting results of the test to determine whether the weapon was the one which was used to shoot Buis.

The sheriff said he believes that a handgun was used to kill Buis since no shell casings were found in his trailer. The rifle, he said, would have ejected such shells, while a handgun wouldn't, he said.

Fairfax said Buis was known to own both a rifle and a handgun. He declined to say, however, whether a handgun has been found in the investigation. No weapons were found in Buis' trailer.

Robbery scene

An unidentified sheriff's deputy is shown dusting a door glass for fingerprints following the armed robbery of the Bank of Ionia Thursday morning. An estimated

$2,000 was stolen from the bank by two men carrying handguns, authorities report. A car believed to be the get-away car was located near Sedalia about 1 p.m. (Democrat-Capital Photo)

About $2,000 taken from Bank of Ionia

BULLETIN

A 1972 Plymouth believed used in the armed robbery Thursday morning of the Bank of Ionia was located behind the old Camp Branch School, half a mile north of the intersection of Routes B and ZZ, it was reported by authorities. Two men are still sought in the case, as is a white canvas bag used in the robbery, in which $2,000 was taken. The Plymouth, believed stolen, was first spotted by a Highway Patrol aircraft.

(Democrat-Capital Service)

IONIA — Two armed men robbed the Bank of Ionia of about $2,000 at 10:15 a.m. Thursday while forcing two customers and two clerks to lie on the floor.

Law enforcement officers from Benton and Pettis Counties and the Highway Patrol converged on the area minutes after the men left the bank. Planes were also used in the search.

According to the Benton County sheriff's department, the two men entered the bank armed with long barreled revolvers and a white canvas bag. One of the men also reportedly displayed a knife. After taking the money, they fled in a northerly direction, driving a 1972 Plymouth.

The first man was described as six feet tall, slender, wearing a brown suit, while the other was about 5-foot-10, heavy in build with a scar over his right eye and wearing a dark blue suit. Both men were wearing beards at the time of the robbery, but authorities believe the beards may have been fakes. Both men had long hair and were described as "well dressed."

Agents from the Federal Bureau of Investigation were notified of the robbery and bank officials as well as lawmen said they would have no comment until after the agents arrived.

A Benton County sheriff's deputy said later, however, that authorities already

New plan to fight birds at courthouse

The Pettis County Court has a new plan to keep the pigeons and starlings off the window ledges and roof of the Pettis County Courthouse.

Eastern District Judge E. L. Birdsong and Western District Judge John Bluhm announced Thursday that they have ordered about "four dozen snakes" to scare away the birds.

The snakes, the judges said, are rubber — not real — and will be glued to the window ledges and parts of the roof.

The 2½-foot snakes are expected to arrive at the courthouse next Thursday. Bluhm estimated that the whole project will cost the county less than $30.

"It's a cheap try to get rid of the problem," Bluhm said.

"If it doesn't work and you want a rubber snake, we'll give you one," Birdsong laughed.

Birdsong said he saw a newspaper article recently in which the fake snake method was credited with solving the bird problems at another Missouri courthouse.

Birdsong said that the county fire department is now hosing down the ledges and roof of the courthouse about once a month to remove the bird droppings.

The court last year talked about installing an electronic de-mouser outside courthouse windows and on the roof to see if the device wouldn't also work on the birds. The snakes never were installed.

The court also in the past, Birdsong said, has tried chemical applications to keep the birds away. But this idea was abandoned after the chemicals started seeping down the sides of the building and discoloring the stone.

"I don't know whether this bit will work," one courthouse employee said of the judges' snake plan. "They've tried about everything and nothing really has worked."

Equestrian repair

One of the four horse statues which grace the main portal of St. Mark's Basilica in Venice, Italy, got its head removed to allow experts to study ways to stop the "bronze cancer" that has been gnawing away at the 2000-year-old figures. Officials said a protective wax coating might be applied to the statue before it is put back in place.

Hospital given its official recognition

(Democrat-Capital Service)

SWEET SPRINGS — Sweet Springs Community Hospital recently received a certificate designating the hospital as an official eye donor collection station in cooperation with the Lions Club Eye Tissue Bank at the University of Missouri.

The hospital has participated in the program for almost two years. This is the first time its participation was publicly and officially recognized by the Sight Conservation Committee of the Missouri Lions Club and the head of the Lions Eye Tissue Bank of the University of Missouri.

Sight conservation is one of the primary projects of all Lions Clubs and the club here recently received recognition for having supported the Lions Eye Tissue Bank of the University of Missouri for the 13th consecutive year.

Nice appliance store boss is unbelievable

OAKLAND, Calif. (AP) — Disbelief and warm praise have flooded into Arthur Friedman's appliance store since word got out that his employees set their own pay and other working conditions.

"We've had calls from all over the country from people who wanted to know if it was really true," Friedman said Tuesday. "It's true."

Friedman, 51, who sports mutton-chop whiskers, added: "Television people have been here, and I've been interviewed on the radio. I didn't think we were so special."

A woman who mailed a clipping of Friedman's story had written above the headline, "May you prosper beyond your imagination."

About five years ago, Friedman, with the assent of his brother and partner, Morris, turned the traditional boss-employee set-up topsy turvy and let the workers do what they pleased.

Friedman said he decided to put his philosophy — "Find out what people want, and give it to them" — on the line. So he let his 12 employees at Friedman's Appliances set their own pay and raises, days off, holidays, vacations and most other conditions.

"What the employees wanted turned out to be what we wanted anyway," he said.

Morris Friedman says, "If we give fellowship, love and understanding, that's what we get back. And we get back exactly what we give out. People respond in kind. Nobody rips us off."

Friedman sends customers thousands of cards offering to service appliances free. And if installment customers "forget" payments or quit paying altogether, Arthur Friedman sends them a form letter any credit manager would consider incredible. It says:

"For some reason, which we don't really understand, you have decided not to pay the bill which you owe to us. This letter officially cancels that bill, and you no longer are under any obligation to pay us.

"We have decided not to give this bill to a collection agency, as our gain would be small compared to your loss."

Says Arthur, "Sometimes they pay us, sometimes they don't. That's the way it goes."

How's business?
"No worse than usual," he said.

SO YOU'RE WONDERING ABOUT A NEW FURNACE...

Most of the time you don't have any choice about replacing a worn-out furnace, but you do have a choice about the heating system you replace it with.

Electric home heating saves energy and is versatile, reliable and economical. Regardless of the size and shape of your home, electric heating can do the job.

You may choose the heat pump with an integrated system for heating and air conditioning. Duct heaters which coordinate well with any fan-forced air duct system. The electric furnace designed for split system air conditioning. Or the electric hydronic boiler to be used with space-saver baseboard radiators.

Or you may ignore your furnace and heat your entire home with baseboard units, recessed wall heaters, cable heat or a combination.

If you would like to consider electric heating, call Missouri Public Service Company and ask for a heating specialist. There's no obligation. We don't even sell any equipment. But we'll be glad to offer specific energy-saving advice for you to consider for your specific situation.

Funeral wishes need to be written down

Dear Ann Landers: I am 44 and in good health, so please don't interpret this request as an urgent plea for help. I just need to know if I am thinking straight, so when the time comes for me to be buried I won't embarrass my family.

I can't stand those shiny, satin-lined coffins. Embalming has always seemed primitive, if not barbaric, to me. I want a closed coffin since I've yet to see remains so attractive that they should be on display.

The conventional music one hears at last rites depresses me. I want something cheerful at my funeral. And since "Amazing Grace" is a long-time favorite, I'd like someone to sing it.

Instead of a eulogy exaggerating my virtues, I'd prefer a message of encouragement to the mourners. In fact, I might even write a few words myself.

My mother says I am crazy. Am I? What do you think? — Edith In Nebraska

Dear Edith: You don't sound crazy to me. But I hope you will make sure your wishes are carried out by putting them in writing and then placing them in the hands of a lawyer. You might even select the funeral director now and see that he has a copy. Then he and the lawyer could work together in the event that your relatives decide to do things their way.

Dear Ann Landers: I have a friend who is ruining her marriage and her life — because of her super-devotion to her mother.

B's mother is partially handicapped but she is quite self-sufficient. She can drive a car, do her own housework, shop, travel. She also has a nice, strong husband.

My friend believes it is her "duty" to go to her mother's house every day, cook, do the laundry, and run errands. (It's a 30-mile round trip.) In the meantime, her own home is a mess, her family eats frozen and canned food because she has no time to cook for them. The poor girl is always rushing and she's a nervous wreck.

Don't you think she could cut her martyrdom down to twice a week and still be a dutiful daughter? — Her Friend

Dear Friend: To begin with, this problem is not yours, and you can be sure your advice will not be appreciated. Moreover, you are looking for a rational solution to an emotional problem.

Your friend is driven by a compulsion to please her mother. This is an old hang-up from childhood which will not disappear because someone tells her to "cut down the martyrdom." What the girl needs is counseling, and her husband should insist that she get it.

Dear Ann Landers: I am a psychiatrist who would like to compliment you on your superb response to "Waiting to Hear." You stated your position on homosexuality in a way that should set the record straight for all time.

I was not aware that Illinois was the first state to pass legislation declaring homosexuality between consenting adults no longer a crime. I believe when you quoted the statute you omitted two important words: "in private."

Many homosexuals feel that because two people consent, they can do almost anything.

anywhere. I believe the public has the right to protection against outrageous conduct, whether it is heterosexual or homosexual. Will you kindly set THIS record straight? — A Washington Psychiatrist

Dear Wash. D.C.: You are right — on all counts, and I thank you for writing.

Don't flunk your chemistry test. Love is more than one set of glands calling to another. If you have trouble making a distinction you need Ann's booklet, "Love or Sex and How To Tell the Difference." Send a long, self-addressed, stamped envelope with your request and 35 cents in coin to Ann Landers, P.O. Box 3346, Chicago, Illinois 60654.

Sedalia man is charged after leaving accident

Roger D. McGinnis, 27, 904 South Montiteau, was arrested by Sedalia police early Thursday morning in connection with a hit-and-run accident Friday afternoon involving four vehicles.

McGinnis was arrested at 14th and Engineer and charged with leaving the scene of an accident, driving while intoxicated and speeding. He is presently in the city jail in lieu of a $225 cash bond and is scheduled to appear in Municipal Court Friday.

In another hit-and-run incident, John Sanders, 38, Smithton, was arrested early Thursday morning on charges of driving while intoxicated and leaving the scene of an accident, after hitting a parked car at 415 East Harvey.

According to police reports, Sanders was arrested shortly after hitting the car, owned by Janice Buso, 1700 South Kentucky.

Sanders was released from the city jail on $175 cash bond. He is scheduled to appear in Municipal Court Monday.

Another term is sought by mayor

(Democrat-Capital Service)

SWEET SPRINGS — Mayor Raphael Hall and George King, city marshal here, are the only two candidates who have filed for election here in the April 2 city election. Both men filed Wednesday afternoon.

Two aldermen, Lester Harms, Ward 1, and William Brandt, Ward 2, will see their terms expire this year. Neither man has filed yet, nor have any other candidates.

Other offices needing candidates include the city collector, a position now held by Adelle Hicklin, and police judge, a title held by William Smith.

Ambulance law delay approved by House

JEFFERSON CITY, Mo. (AP) — The Missouri House today gave final approval to a measure delaying the deadline for compliance with ambulance regulation passed during the last session. The delay would allow third and fourth class counties to delay compliance until July 1, 1975.

The legislation passed in the last session requires compliance by July 1, 1974.

The measure was amended to allow Jefferson County to be included in counties authorized to delay compliance.

The House also gave final approval to a proposed constitutional amendment which would eliminate the requirement that voters approve revenue bonds for financing industrial facilities.

Also approved was a measure granting salary increases to state judges.

The Senate, meanwhile, approved 24-9 and sent to the Senate a bill to allow the state agriculture commissioner to classify pesticides for general use and for restricted use.

The bill does not specify which pesticides might be banned.

The measure requires accurate labeling and calls for licensing of persons who are in the business of applying pesticides.

Congress has approved a pesticide act to be implemented within four years.

The bill met opposition from senators who objected to the $151,000 per year cost in administering the program, and questioned whether Missouri needed the program.

The regulations are not expected to affect sale of normal household insecticides.

Wednesday, the Missouri House agreed to allow a bi-partisan commission to monitor provisions of campaign finance legislation under consideration for first-round approval.

The agreement removes a major obstacle to tentative approval of the measure, although there are a number of remaining issues for consideration.

House Democrats generally have avored allowing the secretary of state to main control over reporting provisions of campaign expenses and contributions, while House Republicans and Gov. Christopher S. Bond prefer the commission.

The compromise proposal was offered by Rep. James G. Baker, D-Kansas City, and provides for nomination of members of the commission by the Supreme Court and appointment by the governor with the advice and consent of the Senate.

A number of attempts to establish commissions in other forms were defeated.

Republicans wanted the governor to appoint the commission with the consent of the Senate, and Democrats favored legislative nomination with appointment by the governor with the consent of the Senate.

The successful compromise proposal provides for three members of the commission from each political party. They would initially be appointed for staggered terms so that succeeding six-year appointments could be made every two years.

There would be appointments of two members of the six-member commission every two years.

The House spent the day mostly debating various formulas for makeup of the commission.

Two bills are being considered. Both are substitutes for a House Election Committee bill. One is sponsored by Rep. Vic Downing, D-Bragg City, and the other by Rep. Kenneth Rothman, D-Clayton.

An attempt by Rep. Steve Vossmeier, D-St. Louis, to allow the House and Senate to nominate members of the commission was defeated after extended debate.

"No self-respecting governor would approve such a proposal," argued Rep. Robert Ellis Young, R-Carthage.

Rothman however, said if a commission was to be in the bill Vossmeier's recommendation was the best method.

Illinois narcotics raid trial begins

ALTON, Ill. (AP) — Angrily she singled out, one at a time, narcotics officers accused of violating her civil rights in a midnight no-knock raid.

Sometimes seeming near tears, her voice wavering, she testified in federal court Wednesday:

—"He pointed a gun at my head."

—"He burst through my door. He hit

Robert Underwood (her common law husband) with a five-cell flashlight five times" while Underwood was handcuffed to a chair.

—"He pointed a gun at my 6-year-old son while he slept in his own bed."

—"He said to Bob, 'This is a big one, go ahead and move you ... so I can shoot you.'"

—"They were drinking beer."

None had arrested her, advised her of her rights or shown her a warrant, she said.

Seven federal agents and three St. Louis policemen are being tried for violating the rights of 11 people in six allegedly illegal raids last year in and around Collinsville, Ill.

Wednesday the first victim, Pamela Gitto, an attractive 28-year-old divorcee, testified for the prosecution. This is what she said:

Underwood, who had lived with her and her son for three years, was a cocaine dealer. She knew he kept drugs in the house. Four of his customers, she discovered early April 20, 1973, were undercover narcotics agents.

Two agents had come to the kitchen of her East St. Louis home "to talk about drugs with Bob." Sitting in the living room, she heard someone say, "This is it," and looked up to the barrel of a pistol held by agent Dennis Harker. She saw agent Kenneth Bloemmaker handcuffing Underwood to a chair, his hands behind his back.

Agent Dennis Moriarty, brandishing a pistol and a wallet that apparently contained his identification, ran in the front door and to the kitchen. He shoved the wallet in Underwood's face and threatened to kill him if he moved. More agents burst in.

Worried about her son, she was led upstairs to check on him. She found agent Donald Spicer pointing a pistol at the bed where the boy lay.

Downstairs, agents slashed open her couch, emptied her kitchen canisters, emptied drawers and dumped her clothes on the floor. Agent Ronald Olive told her the routine is typical.

Agent Daniel Duffy entered by breaking down the kitchen door. Two raiders guarding Underwood were near enough to open it. "Bob leaned forward and said, 'Honey, don't let them plant anything,'" Mrs. Gitto testified. "Duffy struck him in the back five times. He told Bob to shut up and again called him a vile name."

In her bedroom "a black officer was holding up a pair of my bikini panties and look at them."

At 2 a.m. she and Underwood were led outside. Duffy tried to trip Underwood as he walked to the car. They were driven to jail. No drugs had been discovered. Questioning her in cross-examination, defense attorneys asked Mrs. Gitto about Underwood's drug dealings. She said she was aware of it and had once used some cocaine, but did not participate in the illegal trafficking. She has been indicted on federal drug charges. Underwood is serving a federal sentence for drug violations. The defense said it hopes to tie Mrs. Gitto into Underwood's operation when testimony resumes today.

Plane crash kills all 36 persons aboard

BISHOP, Calif. (AP) — A twin-engine chartered airplane carrying a television film crew smashed into a mountainside in the rugged eastern Sierra, killing all 36 persons aboard, officials said today.

A helicopter pilot who spotted the burning wreckage in mountainous terrain six miles east of here and landed at the scene said the Sierra Pacific Airlines Convair 440 had disintegrated.

"They were all dead," said Mike Antoniou. "All that we saw was a lot of burning. There was no apparent response to yells."

"It was a very black night. The plane was disintegrated. The biggest part I saw was the tail section. The bodies were burned very badly."

The propeller-driven plane was chartered by Los Angeles-based Wolper Productions for filming the television series, "Primal Man."

The flight was bound for Burbank, about 200 miles south of the crash scene, when it smashed into a ridge in darkness shortly after taking off from the Bishop airport Wednesday night, officials said.

About 10 Inyo County deputies and reserve officers hiked two miles over rugged terrain to reach the crash site early today, a spokesman said. No efforts to remove the bodies were planned until after daylight, when an FBI team was expected to arrive to make positive identifications on the bodies.

A spokesman said the film crew had been in the area since Monday.

Stan Margulies, vice president of Wolper Productions, said the firm had chartered the plane to transport 31 persons from the cast and crew of "Primal Man" back home Wednesday night.

Mike Gray, a Wolper spokesman, said the passengers included writer-director Dennis Azzarella, actors, stuntmen and technicians.

One of the dead actors was identified as Janos Prohaska, 51, who has played animals in a variety of roles on television and in movies. His roles included the cookie-mooching bear on the Andy Williams TV show. His son also died in the crash.

Gray said the crew had traveled to the Mammoth Mountain resort area near Bishop because a snow setting was needed to film a Siberian tiger hunt by actors made up to portray Neanderthal men.

The sequence was to be included in the third segment of the four-part series on early man's struggle for survival, Gray said. The sequence was to have been shown May 2.

A tiger had been rented for the filming, but Margulies said the animal was to be returned to Los Angeles by truck.

The plane hit at the 7,000-foot level of the White Mountains, which range up to 8,800 feet high, according to reports from Inyo National Forest officials, the Inyo County sheriff, the Federal Aviation Administration and the Civil Air Patrol.

The weather was clear at the time of the crash at 8:24 p.m. PDT, said the FAA.

Meeting scheduled on ambulance law

JEFFERSON CITY, Mo. (AP) — Proposed regulations for implementing the Missouri ambulance licensing law will be explained at a public meeting April 1 in Columbia, Hamilton Reid, chairman of the Governor's Advisory Committee on Emergency Medical Services, said today.

The meeting will be held in the Hearnes Multipurpose Building at the University of Missouri. It will start at 10:30 a.m. and an afternoon session will be held.

Sponsors include the state Division of Highway Safety, the state Division of Health and the Missouri Ambulance Association.

Reid said the meeting is intended to serve as a public conference during which interested parties can discuss the new law, which takes effect July 1.

The proposed regulations cover vehicles used as ambulances, life support equipment and training for mobile emergency medical technicians.

Before they become effective, the regulations must be approved by the state Board of Health.

Up for debate in the Missouri House is a bill to delay the effective date for a year in 3rd and 4th class counties because the expected high cost in meeting the regulations.

More fighting reported along Golan Heights

By THE ASSOCIATED PRESS

Syrian and Israeli armor and artillery blazed away at each other on the Golan Heights for the third straight day today.

Syria said its forces knocked out two Israeli tanks and destroyed an Israeli arms depot in a 75-minute engagement.

It said the clash began "when the enemy tried to fortify and improve his positions in the northern sector" of the 40-mile cease-fire line.

Syria said the Israelis suffered an unspecified number of casualties in the clash, but the Israeli military command reported no losses.

The command said the Syrians opened fire on Israeli positions near Mizrat Beit Jann, Halfa Harfa and Tel Shams, and the fire was returned.

The action was in the northern sector of the territory Israel captured from Syria in the October war, where the front lines curve to within 23 miles of Damascus.

In Beirut, the pro-Syrian newspaper Al Shark reported today that Israel had dropped paratroopers on the slopes of Mt. Hermon after two days of heavy artillery duels on the Golan Heights below.

The paratroops landed Wednesday afternoon shortly after a three-hour artillery exchange along the northern half of the 40-mile Syrian-Israeli front subsided, the paper said.

The report implied the paratroopers were reinforcing two observation posts overlooking the Damascus-Beirut road that Israel captured from Syria in the October war.

Al Shark, which speaks for Syria's ruling socialist Baath party, said the landing was part of an Israeli buildup for "continued aggression" against Syria. Israeli officials claimed last week that Syria was preparing to launch an offensive to recapture much of the territory it lost in the October war.

Release of kidnap victim is expected

BUENOS AIRES, Argentina (AP) — Exxon's Argentine subsidiary says it expects Marxist guerrillas to release American refinery manager Victor Samuelson today following payment of a world record ransom of $14.2 million.

Esso Argentina announced Wednesday that the money had been delivered to the People's Revolutionary Army, the ERP. It said the final ransom demand would be fulfilled today with publication in Argentine newspapers of an advertisement stating that the ransom was "part of the super-earnings obtained in Argentina through exploitation of its workers."

Samuelson, 36, of Cleveland, Ohio, was kidnaped on Dec. 6. It was expected that he would be flown north soon after his release to join his wife and three children in the United States.

Esso's payment brought to about $20 million the total ransom collected by kidnappers this year in Argentina. The take in 1973 was more than $30 million, with most of it going to leftist guerrillas and much of it paid by foreign companies.

One other foreigner — the French manager of the Peugeot automobile company's subsidiary — is still in the hands of Argentine kidnappers. In mid-January, the McKee-Tecsa firm of Independence, Ohio, paid $1.5 million ransom for American construction engineer Charles Robert Hayes.

An ERP commando squad seized Samuelson as he was lunching in the company restaurant at the refinery he managed in Campana, 60 miles north of Buenos Aires.

Esso said the guerrillas originally demanded $10 million in cash and $4.2 million to be spent on food, clothing and health centers for Argentine flood victims. The company said it could not arrange for distribution of the goods, and the guerrillas agreed to take the whole amount in cash.

Esso did not say how or where payment was made.

Bad check gets man prison term

KEYTESVILLE — A Brookfield man was sentenced to a year in the Chariton County jail Tuesday after pleading guilty to a charge of issuing a no funds check.

Sentenced was Larry Blackburn, 34.

Blackburn was charged with passing a no funds check of $8.45 July 30 last year at a Sedalia Derby service station. The case was transferred to Chariton County from Pettis County on a change of venue.

Empty barges

The pinch of the coal strike in West Virginia is being felt at the U.S. Steel works in Clairton, Pa. These coal barges lie idle because of a lack of coal to be shipped on the Monongahela River. Some 30,000 workers in the steel industry face layoffs in the near future if the coal strike continues. The miners claim a lack of gasoline has prevented them from working. (UPI)

Confrontation avoided on impeachment probe

WASHINGTON (AP) — The chairman of the House Judiciary Committee has headed off, at least for the moment, a confrontation with the White House over impeachment evidence. Despite White House statements indicating stiffening resistance to committee requests for tapes and documents, Chairman Peter W. Rodino Jr., D-N.J., convinced members more time was needed to determine whether President Nixon will cooperate. However, Rodino left no doubt that if Nixon refuses to part with the information being sought the committee will subpoena it. Rodino said Wednesday that the material the committee wants is necessary to the investigation and the Constitution gives the committee an unchallenged right to it. Rep. Edward Hutchinson, R-Mich., the committee's senior Republican, agreed. "The requests made by the committee to date are very reasonable and relevant," Hutchinson said. "The White House should be totally cooperative with us." However, the White House as yet has made no response to the committee's Feb. 25 request for tapes of conversations between Nixon and his top aides last year when the Watergate cover-up was unraveling. And Tuesday White House Press Secretary Ronald L. Ziegler and Bryce Harlow, a presidential counselor, in separate blasts at the committee, served notice the White House will resist any requests for broad-scale access to its files. Nixon has promised to give the committee everything on Watergate he gave to the grand jury. However, the committee is investigating many other areas besides Watergate. Rodino persuaded Democratic members of the committee that further talks should be held between committee and White House lawyers before any move to subpoena White House evidence. Although Rodino managed to at least postpone any action on a subpoena, he did not succeed in satisfying all committee members.

'Fagin operators' reported

WASHINGTON (AP) — Fagin in "Oliver Twist" was a seedy slum fence who coached street urchins in the art of picking pockets and exploited the little "dears" by pocketing the bulk of the swag. Now, more than a century after Charles Dickens created this literary character, law enforcement officials in a number of states say they are chasing real-life "Fagin operators" who recruit inner-city youth with false promises of scholarships and cash to sell candy door-to-door in affluent suburbs. The operators profit by cloaking themselves in the mantle of implied charitable efforts, officials from four states told a Senate subcommittee Tuesday. Donald G. Mulack, assistant attorney general of Illinois, said the schemes, which surfaced in his state about two years ago, involve recruiting children to peddle boxes of candy worth 30 to 50 cents a box. The candy is sold for $1.50 to $1.75. The child keeps 25 cents per sale and turns the balance over to the company or the crew manager. "In a typical operation," Mulack said, "a crew manager recruits young people at candy stores near grammar schools through posters and flyers which advertise: 'Students wanted, earn up to $20 a week, part-time.'" The operators play on the respectability of such campaigns as Girl Scout, church and school group cookie sales. Officials from Pennsylvania, Florida and New Jersey told the subcommittee on children and youth about nearly identical schemes in their states. Also testifying were officials of several of the sales organizations.

Morrie Friedman, executive director of the National Youth Clubs of America, said, "I don't feel as long as there's proper supervision it's such a detriment to the child." He blamed greedy franchisees for failures to deliver on promises of scholarships. Friedman estimated his organization has hired 25,000 to 30,000 children, starting them in at the age of 8 or 9. He said his organization achieved about $3.2 million in gross sales last year. Gerald Winters, a candy wholesaler who set up Youth Incentives, Inc., said he wanted to help disadvantaged youths earn money and learn self-reliance and business sense. "I am the first one to admit now that the organization grew without proper direction," he said.

Troops, conventional weapons

EDITOR'S NOTE — Pentagon planners believe conventional military forces are an increasingly important deterrent to war in a nuclear age. Here is a report on the strength of the United States and of the Soviet Union in troops and conventional weapons.

By FRED S. HOFFMAN
AP Military Writer

WASHINGTON (AP) — The Soviet Union has about four million men under arms, twice as many as the United States. The Pentagon seeks to offset those numbers with technical superiority. Russian armed manpower and weapons have been increasing steadily, while U.S. conventional military strength now has leveled off after five years of severe cutbacks. With each nation capable of inflicting colossal nuclear damage on the other, U.S. planners believe conventional forces are even more important to deter lesser war and to repel limited threats. Strategic arms limitation talks are aimed at restricting nuclear offensive weapons, but there are no moves to put a lid on conventional ground, sea and air forces of the world's two biggest military powers—although NATO and Warsaw Pact diplomats are trying to negotiate a mutual thinning-out in Central Europe.

made weapons like the TV-guided Maverick tank-killing missile.

The Russians apparently give their ground, sea and air forces at least as high a priority as do their Pentagon opposites. By all available intelligence indicators, the Soviets have been lavishing resources on their conventional forces. "We have seen a growth in real sophistication in Soviet weaponry and equipment in recent years," said Gen. Creighton Abrams, Army chief of staff. "...They spend very heavily to gain even a small advantage, to incorporate nice-to-have features which we forego because of cost."

Despite Abrams' complaints about cost constraints, the Army is pushing dozens of development projects, including a new main battle tank, two new howitzers, four new helicopters and improved antiaircraft missiles. The Army's research chief, Lt. Gen. John R. Deane Jr., said: "Our answer to their use of quantity must be quality." But the Soviets are sustaining both quantity and quality, especially in Eastern Europe. Even while tying down half a million troops in the Far East opposite China, Russia has kept some 450,000 men and more than 8,000 tanks in East Germany, Poland and Czechoslovakia. These Soviet forces are the backbone of the 925,000 men and 15,500 tanks deployed by Warsaw Pact nations in position to strike into NATO's central region.

In the past few years, U.S. intelligence has reported that the Russians have been putting more of these troops on wheels, with some 4,000 additional armored personnel carriers sent to the Warsaw Pact area.

The Russians are also stressing self-propelled field artillery to keep pace with faster moving ground troops. A new Soviet armed assault helicopter appeared in East Germany last fall.

Holding the pivotal position on NATO's central front are 190,000 U.S. ground troops and about 2,000 tanks in West Germany. Counting the Americans, NATO countries and France have some 890,000 troops and 6,000 tanks available to defend their region.

Secretary of Defense James R. Schlesinger, while acknowledging Warsaw Pact numerical superiority in tanks, claims that NATO has important advantages in tank destroyers, antitank weapons and logistics support.

However, geography is on the side of Russia when it comes to the all-important ability to reinforce battlefield forces in Eastern Europe quickly.

Adm. Thomas H. Moorer, chairman of the Joint Chiefs of Staff, says the Soviet Union "appears to be making a determined effort to erase the long-held advantage in the ground attack role held by U.S. tactical air forces."

The Russians are producing a series of new-generation fighters and fighter bombers, which are expected to replace at least half of today's models over the coming five years.

Moorer said Soviet tactical air forces "hold major quantitative and some qualitative advantages in the air superiority role."

However, he predicted that U.S. tactical air will emerge ahead during the 1980s. Moorer pinned his prediction chiefly on continued acquisition of the Air Force's F15 fighter, due to become operational in 1976, and the Navy's F14 fighter, which is already entering the force.

The Mideast war provided a test for both U.S. and Soviet airlifts. Both did well, according to American experts. But the American task was tougher because it covered over 6,000 miles, while the Russian flights were much shorter.

The experience, particularly the denial of base stopover privileges by some U.S. allies, has convinced Schlesinger that U.S. long-range airlift capacity must be expanded. He has proposed stretching C141 transport planes and modifying commercial jumbo jets to carry military cargo in emergencies.

Apart from Russia's surge in nuclear striking power, the growth of the Soviet navy within the past decade has evoked the deepest concern at the Pentagon.

Some Western naval authorities have declared the U.S. Navy already is in second place. Adm. Elmo R. Zumwalt Jr. told Congress that "the balance ... has shifted during the past five years, and right now we are at a very critical point."

Others, however, are less gloomy. While indicating concern, Adm. Moorer said in early March that "the U.S. still has the edge in the global reach of our fleets, through our carrier and amphibious task forces."

But Moorer cautioned that the Soviet Union is building "a modern and increasingly powerful naval force ..."

The U.S. Navy is bottoming out after five years of retiring older ships in large numbers. This year the Navy will have only 174 major combatant surface ships, compared to the Soviet Union's 221.

For the next several years, new U.S. ships will be coming out of the yards faster than old ships are retired. The surface combat fleet should climb back to about 230 ships.

The Navy is embarking on production of entirely new classes of austere patrol frigates, minicarriers, hydrofoils and other craft, hopefully at lower prices. In submarines, the Russians outnumber the United States by about 315 to 115. But many of the Soviet undersea craft are older diesel-powered models. The first of a group of advanced U.S. nuclear attack subs soon will become operational. Navy experts claim they are superior to the best Soviet sub because of better quietness and sonar. The Soviets also are modernizing their underwater force and will maintain a 2 to 1 edge in numbers by the early 1980s, according to U.S. calculations.

Fire chief critical of court

Pettis County Fire Chief Robert Sisemore Tuesday criticized the County Court for not paying him a salary after he suffered injuries in an auto accident last April.

Sisemore's comments came in reply to a Hot Line inquiry March 3 in which a writer asked the County Court why acting chief George Brown received six months' pay after he suffered a heart attack last year, while Sisemore received no salary after he was injured.

"What's good for one should be good for all," Sisemore said. "Why should I be any different?"

Western District Judge John Blum, speaking for the court, said in the Hot Line answer that the main reason why Brown was paid was that he suffered his heart attack while "attending to fire duties," and that Sisemore was injured off the job. Blum added that had Brown suffered his injuries off the job, the court wouldn't have given him a compensatory salary.

"I've been called to many fires on my day off," Sisemore said, debating the court's reasoning. "I was on duty 24 hours a day."

Sisemore said the court's decision was based on "personalities" and not on the reason cited by Blum. "It's because I'm a union man," he said.

"That had nothing to do with it," said Presiding Judge Harry Walsh.

Sisemore, who still remains a member of Pettis County Firefighters Local 2228, has not returned to work since his auto accident. He said he doesn't know whether his doctor will give him the green light to return.

The court also is involved now in a dispute with Local 2228 over the court's September, 1973, decision to dismiss a county firefighter. The union says that the firefighter, Danny Taylor, LaMonte, was fired because he was a union member. The court says it dismissed Taylor because a more experienced firefighter had been hired.

Sisemore contends that if he is denied six months' salary, then Blum and Walsh also should pay back salaries they received while hospitalized parts of last year and this year.

"They should either treat me the same or put theirs (salaries) back," Sisemore said. "It (county money) belongs to the taxpayer."

The court, on the other hand, maintains it has the option to determine in cases such as this who is entitled to compensatory salary. The court says there are no state laws covering such a situation. There also is no written policy at the county courthouse.

Both Blum and Eastern District Judge E. L. Birdsong also pointed out that about four years ago Sisemore received six months' salary while recovering from injuries he received in the line of duty.

Sisemore also refuted another statement made by Blum in the Hot Line reply. Blum said that a secondary factor in the court's decision not to award Sisemore a compensatory salary is because Sisemore never told the court he intended to come back to work, and Brown did.

Sisemore, on the other hand, said he never told the court that he planned to quit and assumed that the court thought he would return to work. "Everyone knows that I still plan to go back to work," he said.

Sisemore said he will soon ask the court for six months' salary. If the court says no, then Sisemore said he would go to the union for help and possibly hire an attorney.

LVO control to end with sale of stock

The LVO Corp., Tulsa, Okla., has announced it plans to divest itself of control of LVO Cable, Inc., by reducing its amount of stock from 59 to 16 per cent.

Approximately 800,000 shares of LVO Cable stock will be sold on the common market, and the remaining shares will thereafter be treated as an investment by LVO Corp.

Lynn Harrison, manager of Cablevision, Inc., 600 South Osage, said of the transaction, "I doubt seriously if this will change our behavior at all. LVO Corp., really put no capital into our operation for the last three years. We have gotten our capital from the money market."

Harrison said he will have to wait and see if anyone picks up a majority of the LVO Cable stock before he can determine if the sale will have a major effect.

"If it is pretty well distributed, then we will be pretty much on our own," he said.

Male hormone side effects

Dear Dr. Lamb — A woman told you she had been taking male hormones for 12 years and wanted to know the symptoms from taking them. Why didn't you tell her? Don't you know? Perhaps a doctor looks at it from the outside and from what they have been taught in the books. We are here on earth to have joy, to give love to one another, to have peace in the home, and to have a happy family life. Is it worth living, or preserving life if we are not a real woman or a real man?

The symptoms are as follows: She becomes mean in speaking, cannot read or play music because she cannot concentrate. She prefers to be alone because everyone else is wrong but her. She cannot receive joy or sorrow because she doesn't care. She fights with her husband and children because she has lost her mother love.

I have had too much male hormone so my doctor had to give me too much female hormones and I was afraid that he would give me male hormone again. I would rather have too much female hormones than be taking male hormones because I realize what it did to my husband and children and myself. I'm a female nurse.

Dear Reader — If you are a nurse you should realize that doctors often have to make a decision on what is best under the circumstances. The woman you are talking about wrote in because she was told she was being treated for cancer. I would not be able to know what her exact condition was without access to her total medical record but I would not be so foolish as to recommend stopping a medicine that might be her only means of survival.

I'm afraid you have exaggerated the effects of male hormone. Both sexes naturally have both male and female hormones. It is the balance that makes the difference. Male hormones simply accentuate masculine characteristics, which often include an increase in aggressiveness. Not everyone has the same personality reactions that you describe. Some do. It is something like there being mean men and some not so mean — but usually it is more than hormones that makes this difference, it's what's inside the brain.

Dear Dr. Lamb — Is enlargement of the spleen always a result of leukemia? I would also like to know if anemia is a result of leukemia.

Dear Reader — The spleen is a small organ behind the stomach and just under the diaphragm on the left side. It is a sort of specialized lymph gland.

It can be moderately enlarged in many conditions. It is enlarged in malaria, many infectious diseases, and sometimes for unknown reasons. It is also enlarged in some forms of leukemia. It can be enlarged in a form of hereditary anemia, which is not leukemia also. The doctor determines the meaning of a large spleen on the basis of additional findings.

An anemia is often part of the findings of a leukemia, but, of course, anemia can also be caused from many other things.

Buckner man killed

BUCKNER, Mo. (AP) — John Shirk, 38, was killed early today in a one-car accident on U.S. 24 in Buckner, Mo. The highway patrol reported that Shirk's car struck a bridge abutment. Shirk was a resident of Buckner.

George Marsh

Education director to leave

George E. Marsh II, director of the Sedalia School District 200 special education center at Hubbard School, Wednesday confirmed he will leave his post at the end of the current school year to begin work on his doctorate degree at the University of Northern Colorado, Greeley.

Marsh, who has been involved in special education instruction and administration in the district for the past four years, indicated his resignation was not spurred by the controversy surrounding the conversion of the former all-black Hubbard School to a special education center.

Commenting on his work, Marsh, who also instructs at the Children's Therapy Center, said he "really appreciated the tremendous cooperation of the school board in developing and expanding our program during the past four years. We've really got something going in Sedalia now."

Sedalia day care centers represented

Representatives from all Sedalia day care centers will attend the first meeting of the newly-formed West Central Missouri Day Care Association (WCMDCA), at Odessa March 23.

Child development specialists from the University of Missouri, State Division of Welfare and State Department of Education will instruct at the meeting.

Local day care centers belonging to WCMDCA are Melita Day Nursery, Tiny Tot Day Care Center, Minniola Day Care Center, Sunrise Day Care Center, the Mrs. Karin Vail group home, and the Mrs. Mildred Knox group home.

The WCMDCA consists of 19 day care facilities licensed by the Missouri Division of Welfare. It is designed to upgrade the quality of such centers in west central Missouri by offering children the opportunity to grow and develop in an expanded environment.

Newspaper-broadcast ownership hearings set

By JAY SHARBUTT
AP Television Writer
WASHINGTON (AP) — According to a study cited by the American Newspaper Publishers Association, 476 broadcast stations — 97 on major TV — are in common ownership with newspapers in whose markets they operate.

The study was made three years ago and hasn't been updated, according to an ANPA spokeswoman.

But the Federal Communications Commission, which five years ago first proposed rules on how many stations any firm can own in a single market, will take another whack at it in mid-June. And what they do could markedly affect newspaper-broadcast combinations.

The FCC's June hearings on broadcast ownership were scheduled after the Justice Department's antitrust division petitioned the agency in a case involving newspaper-broadcast ties for the fourth time this year.

The four petitions all ask that license renewals be denied in St. Louis, Des Moines and Minneapolis for radio-TV stations in which four newspaper publishing firms have a financial interest.

Justice officials say the petitions aim at preventing excessive economic concentration in local advertising revenues and at promoting greater diversity of local news outlets in individual markets.

The actions sent shock waves through the broadcast industry, but did they prompt the FCC's new round of ownership hearings?

"I don't know that you could say it's like night follows day," said the FCC's general counsel, John W. Pettit, in an interview before he left the FCC this week to go into private practice.

"I think it certainly causes us to focus on the problem again," he said. "Frankly, there's sort of a feeling around here...that we ought to fish or cut bait on this."

Justice officials emphatically deny suggestions the sudden burst of petitions-to-deny—three in January, one this month—were politically motivated.

A spokesman said the department simply grew impatient waiting for the FCC to act on proposed local broadcast ownership rules and "we finally felt impelled to go ahead and challenge the licenses on a case-by-case basis."

He didn't rule out the possibility more petitions would be filed in coming weeks and months.

To date, the FCC only has barred the purchase by a single person or firm of a television and AM-FM radio station combination in the same market.

According to Pettit, a "grandfather" clause in the rule means it doesn't affect three-in-a-market combinations that existed before the rule was passed by the FCC. "But you couldn't start out to acquire such a combination now," he said.

Even if nothing comes of the new FCC hearings—and industry officials don't expect that to happen—a broadcast license bill the House Commerce Committee passed last week could make some form of FCC action on the concentration-of-media question mandatory.

Vinegar comes to the rescue

By POLLY CRAMER

A vinegar-soaked rag wipes grease splatters off my stove better than anything else. Then I rub it with a dry cloth. My dog's plastic water dish gets covered with lime from our hard water. I let vinegar soak in the empty bowl and it comes right off. Before starting to use vinegar I could not even scrape the lime off with a knife. Now my dog always has a clean dish and if the lime builds up again out comes the vinegar bottle.

— MARTHA.

DEAR POLLY — My Pet Peeve is with manufacturers of pressure cookers. After using one several years you still have a very good pot but cannot get a new rubber gasket for it since they have changed the models. — MRS. C.M.

DEAR POLLY — Do tell Laura that the next time she makes out an order to a catalog house she should place a clean sheet of typing paper and a carbon under the order blank. Pin them with straight pins so they do not slip. Add date and page number in catalog to the carbon copy only and leave it in the catalog for easy reference should something go wrong. — RUBY G.

DEAR POLLY — Those who have lots of dandruff showing and not time to wash their hair should cover the bristles of their hair brushes with nylon stockings. Tie the nylon on the back and cut off the excess. Brushing the hair with this eliminates dandruff and its embarrassment. Brushing with the nylon causes static so the dandruff clings to the nylon. — AMY.

DEAR POLLY — We are a family of six. To comply with the energy crisis every time someone leaves a light on he has to put a five cent IOU in a basket. At the end of the month the person with the fewest IOUs collects all the money from the others. This really keeps those unnecessary lights turned off. — SHERYL.

DEAR POLLY — I discovered that a carton eggs come in exactly fits in the egg container in my refrigerator. I just cut off the lid on a new carton, leave the eggs in it and put the carton in the egg holder. This eliminates any mess a broken egg might make. If several eggs are needed at one time I just lift out the carton, take to my work area, and then replace it easily. — CATHERINE.

DEAR POLLY — Our curly-haired puppy recently got some burrs caught in his hairs. I used some of my sister's foam hair cream rinse straight from the can. I worked this into his coat and removed the burrs with no trouble at all. — MICHAEL.

Polly's problem

DEAR POLLY — I am a great user of vinegar and always keep a bottle on my kitchen shelf. I would like to know the difference between white and red vinegar. Can red vinegar be used for cleaning or will it leave a stain?

DEAR POLLY — I accidentally spilled suntan oil on a cotton shirt. It did not come out in the wash and I would like to know how to remove it. — DEBBIE. (NEA)

Full accreditation given to Voc-Tech nursing program

The practical nursing program at the Warrensburg Area Vocational-Technical School has been granted full accreditation by the Missouri State Board of Nursing.

Last year the school had been given provisional accreditation as is customary for all beginning practical nursing programs. Following an extensive survey of the program last October and a review of the state board test scores of the graduates, the State Board of Nursing felt that the program met all criteria for complete accreditation.

Thelma Swigert, Windsor, and Michael Wakeman, Knob Noster and other practical nursing students will receive their caps in a special ceremony to be held at the Ridgeview School auditorium at 3:30 p.m. Sunday. This ceremony marks the mid-point of their training. The students have completed the major portion of the academic preparation necessary to be a licensed practical nurse and are now concentrating on giving patient care.

Applications are available for the practical nursing class beginning in September. An applicant must have at least a tenth grade education and must be at least 17 years old. Those interested in applying should write: Practical Nursing Program, Warrensburg Area Vocational-Technical School, Ridge View Drive, Warrensburg, Mo. 64093.

By CECILY BROWNSTONE

Associated Press Food Editor

A young friend of mine, now in college, remembers with delightful sentiment that when she was in third grade the enthusiastic class mother sugared popcorn and colored it appropriately for various occasions. And each time, each child in the class was given a tiny bag of the popcorn, along with a tiny happy note, to carry home.

I was reminded of this recently when I tasted popcorn that had been baked with a syrup flavored with peppermint extract and colored green. Perfect, of course, for celebrants of St. Patrick's Day. When another taster took some of the Peppermint Popcorn home to his wife she liked it so much she said, "Get me the recipe!" Here it is.

PEPPERMINT POPCORN

3 quarts freshly prepared popcorn

1/2 cup butter or margarine

1 cup sugar

1/2 teaspoon salt

1/4 cup light corn syrup

1/2 teaspoon peppermint extract

1/2 teaspoon green food coloring

Into a large shallow baking or roasting pan turn the popcorn; set aside. In a 2-quart saucepan melt the butter; stir in sugar, salt and corn syrup. Cook, stirring constantly, until sugar dissolves and mixture comes to a boil. Boil, without stirring for 5 minutes. Remove from heat. Stir in peppermint extract and green food coloring. Pour over popcorn in baking pan and stir to mix. Bake in a preheated 250-degree oven for 1 hour, stirring 3 or 4 times. Cool completely. Store in a tightly covered container. Makes about 2 1/2 quarts.

Note: Recipe may be doubled: cook double amount of syrup mixture in a 3-quart saucepan; pop two batches of corn kernels; arrange popcorn in two large shallow baking or roasting pans; pour syrup into a quart measure and mix one-half of it with popcorn in each pan; bake as above.

Homemakers hold workshop

A knitting and crocheting workshop will be sponsored by the Pettis County Homemaker's Extension Council from 10 a.m. to 2 p.m. Monday at the Central Missouri Electric Cooperative Building. Mrs. Sue Branson of Tiffany Yarns and Needlecraft, 118 South Ohio, will be the guest speaker and will answer any questions or problems related to knitting or crocheting.

The Homemakers suggest bringing a sack lunch. Soda and coffee will be available. The meeting is open to the public.

Youth flees after admission

The Sedalia youth who confessed to involvement in 52 crimes in the Sedalia area since 1972 escaped from the Watkins Mill State Park Work Camp, Excelsior Springs, the same day the story of the confession was published in The Democrat-Capital.

Police Chief William Miller announced the youth's confession March 6, saying that information given by the youth concerning some of the crimes left little doubt that he was telling the truth.

The 16-year old youth was returned to custody the same day. Gary Wiemholt, manager of the work camp said, and is currently in a "positive-peer culture program" at the camp. "He has actually improved some since that time," Wiemholt said. "I am very much concerned," he added when told that Miller had announced the boy's confession.

"We don't make any attempts to hide their problems," Wiemholt said. "But we are handling this case very, very carefully." He is a delinquent youth who is finding his status through his delinquency.

Assistant Chief Charles Knapp and Det. Sgt. Perry Franklin went to Excelsior Springs to talk with the youth after the boy reportedly said he wanted to confess to the crimes.

"He (the youth) is involved in a treatment program and is in need of help," Wiemholt said.

According to the statement the youth gave the two Sedalia policemen, the 52 incidents included such crimes as breaking and entering, car theft, a mugging and bicycle theft.

Third parochial school is closing

ST. LOUIS (AP) — The third parochial school in the Roman Catholic Archdiocese of St. Louis has announced that it will close at the end of the current year.

Parents of students at St. Francis DeSales High School were notified Wednesday of Cardinal John Carberry's approval of the recommendation to close the school.

The Rev. Arthur Bromschwig pointed to continually decreasing enrollments over the last several years as a main factor in reaching the decision.

He noted that enrollment has dropped from 380 students in 1969 to only 198 this year.

Electricity savers

Possible "savings of up to 20 per cent" in electrical power consumption by offices and stores using florescent tubes has been announced. Westinghouse reports such savings in power can be achieved "without disrupting carefully planned lighting systems" by using newly developed "Econ-o-watt" lamps. Engineers check rows of the new 60-watt tubes on a test stand. (UPI)

Streaking craze spreading

By THE ASSOCIATED PRESS

Police thought they were streakers, but the 22 naked people who stepped off a city bus in front of the precinct house had been struck — by holdup men.

It happened in Rio de Janeiro, Brazil. The bus had been stopped by the robbers, who stripped the passengers of their belongings, including clothes.

That wasn't a case of streaking, the current fad of dashing about in the nude, but there were plenty of legitimate "streaks." In fact, what apparently started as an American campus fad has gone international.

Streaking came to Uruguay when two young men dashed nude through a plush Montevideo residential area. The two were nabbed by police and held for questioning.

The newest sport also arrived in West Germany, when three girls and a young man blitzed across Munich's busy Leopoldstrasse near the university.

Munich campus dean Dr. Joseph Shields commented, "My God, it is happening all over the world. We are not going to send anybody to jail or throw them out of school for something like this."

Streaking in Germany, incidentally, is known as "blitzen."

A Japanese streaker made his debut in Hiroshima.

Amid screams from women shoppers, a 24-year-old longshoreman dashed 300 yards down a street in the A-bomb city in yellow helmet, socks and sneakers with the words "direct appeal" painted on his chest and back.

Streaking also spread to South Korea despite freezing weather. A nude man ran 300 yards down a Seoul street during the morning rush hour, then disappeared into an alley. Two men ran behind him, one with his clothes and one with a camera.

In Kelowna, British Columbia, three unidentified young men contacted a local radio station and told them they were planning to streak outside the building.

At 1:30 a.m. Tuesday, three men parked in front of the station, disrobed and stepped outside — where they were arrested by waiting police.

The police, it seems, also had been listening to the radio station.

In Honolulu a streaker dashed into the lower chamber of the Hawaii state legislature while it was in session.

The streaker, identified as Gary Rogers, a hair stylist from San Francisco, was arrested and charged with open lewdness.

He told newsmen as he was led away, "I am the streaker of the house."

Senate measure on lieutenant governor

JEFFERSON CITY, Mo. (AP) — The lieutenant governor would not have any functions in the Missouri Senate under a proposed constitutional amendment receiving first-round approval in the Senate Wednesday.

The measure, sponsored by Sen. Maurice Schechter, D-Creve Coeur, would not affect Lt. Gov. William C. Phelps unless he runs again in 1976 for lieutenant governor.

The resolution would separate the lieutenant governor from any legislative authority effective Jan. 1, 1977.

Phelps and the Senate have been involved in a dispute over his duties in the upper chamber. He won a state Supreme Court decision last Nov. 30 upholding his authority to preside, but the court has agreed to rehear the case to determine his exact duties.

Phelps maintains he should be able to do all the things the vice president does in the U.S.

Senate. He says he should be able to rule on points of order and assign bills to committee.

Wednesday's three-hour debate, with Phelps in the chair, came one day after he was admonished, by a floor vote, for refusing to recognize Schechter. Instead he called on four other senators to speak while Schechter stood.

Schechter's resolution would have the governor and lieutenant governor run as a team under one political party.

In 1977, the governor could appoint the lieutenant governor to head a department, while giving him a $25,000 or $30,000 salary instead of the $160,000 he now receives.

The action on a voice vote came after the Senate defeated, 22-12, a resolution by Sen. Frank Bild, R-St. Louis County, to have the governor and lieutenant governor run as a team and retain the lieutenant governor's duties in the Senate.

Nixon funds to go for legal defenses

By H.L. SCHWARTZ III
Associated Press Writer
WASHINGTON (AP) — Trustees of President Nixon's leftover campaign funds have decided to pay legal fees and expenses for former officials acquitted of criminal charges and possibly for those found guilty of misdemeanors.

One of the largest beneficiaries of the decision could be one of the trustees — former Secretary of Commerce Maurice H. Stans, who is on trial in New York on federal charges of criminal conspiracy, perjury and obstruction of justice.

Stans, who reportedly has spent more than $100,000 out of his own pocket for legal fees, participated in the trustees' decision, according to one of the other trustees.

Although the decision expands a previous policy of the Nixon campaign organization, both of Stans' co-trustees said in interviews they were unaware it was a change.

Stans was finance director of the Nixon campaign. He is on trial along with former Atty. Gen. John N. Mitchell in a case arising from a secret $200,000 campaign contribution.

Mitchell, political chief of the Nixon campaign for several months in 1972, also could be a major beneficiary of the trustees' decision if he is acquitted in the New York trial and of criminal charges filed in the Watergate cover-up two weeks ago in Washington.

Stans is one of three trustees of $3.57 million in funds left over from the $60-million Nixon campaign.

The others are Nashville insurance executive Guilford Dudley Jr. and Washington businessman Charles Potter.

Dudley and Potter, both prominent long-time Republicans, had no official connection with the Nixon campaign. Both indicated that they signed on as trustees reluctantly.

In a telephone interview Wednesday night, Dudley said Stans was present at a meeting in Potter's office in Washington last month when the trustees went over the trust agreement and signed it.

Columbia blaze injures firemen

COLUMBIA, Mo. (AP) — At least two firemen were injured when a blaze destroyed one building in Columbia's downtown business district and threatened two others Wednesday night.

All off-duty firemen and virtually all fire equipment in the city was sent to the general alarm blaze at the F. W. Woolworth Co. store.

More than 10 companies of men, including units from Boone County and Jefferson City, fought the fire.

One fireman suffered smoke inhalation and another was treated for cuts.

Lots of birds

Hundreds of birds cover almost every limb on these trees in rural western Maryland. Just before sunset for the past several months, the skies blacken as the birds erupt in a chorus of sharp, shrill whistles and the besieged townsfolk of nearby Graceham brace for another attack. (UPI)

When oil embargo ends

Shortages here should end

WASHINGTON (AP) — The anticipated end of the five-month-old Arab oil embargo should relieve U.S. fuel shortages, but it probably won't bring back business-as-usual.

Arab spokesmen have already issued reminders that the embargo can be used again if things don't go well in the Middle East, and U.S. energy officials don't want the United States to be caught with an even greater dependence on Arab oil if that should happen.

Those two factors alone add up to the need, already expressed by U.S. energy officials, to keep saving fuel after the embargo ends.

Just how much the nation may have to save depends on factors not yet revealed by the Arabs after their meeting Wednesday in Tripoli.

A high Libyan official told a newsmen the Arab nations decided to lift the embargo.

But he did not say when; or whether Arab production would return to pre-embargo levels; or whether it would be increased to meet rising U.S. demand; or whether Arab oil prices, tripled since September, may be reduced.

Counting tanker travel time, processing time and distribution time, it may take six to eight weeks for Arab oil to begin reaching the U.S. marketplace once the embargo ends.

U.S. officials estimate it could take up to three months for oil imports to return to pre-embargo levels.

But U.S. petroleum demand has been rising steadily each year; domestic production has stagnated, and officials say new demands can only be met by increased imports for the next few years, mainly from the Middle East.

If the Arabs decide not to increase production, the United States may have to conserve oil with increasing stringency until new U.S. energy resources can be developed.

On the other hand, if the Arabs make available unlimited oil imports, U.S. officials may still press fuel conservation to keep those imports down.

When the embargo struck last October, the United States depended on the Arabs for about 12 per cent of its petroleum, and the pinch hurt. It would hurt a lot more if a new embargo came after U.S. imports of Arab oil were allowed to reach 20 or 30 per cent.

That is why energy chief William E. Simon says his toughest job will be to carry through on present policies for fuel conservation and energy development after the embargo and, with it, the immediate emergency ends.

Doubts amnesty action this year

WASHINGTON (AP) — The chairman of Congress' first inquiry on the subject says he doubts amnesty for Vietnam war deserters and draft evaders will be enacted this year.

"These three days of hearings have shown grave differences over the issue," Rep. Robert W. Kastenmeier, D-Wis., said in an interview. "I just don't think we're close to resolving it, that's all."

Kastenmeier said he does not think it is likely that his House Judiciary subcommittee will put out a bill this year and said there has been no movement in the Senate on the issue.

He denied public speculation that the politically volatile issue of amnesty will be put off because of November's congressional elections, saying amnesty can win a congressman votes as well as lose them for him.

Proposals were varied during the Kastenmeier subcommittee's three days of hearings. The sharpest contrast came at Wednesday's final hearing with Reps. Bella S. Abzug, D-N.Y., and Ronald V. Dellums, D-Calif., proposing near total amnesty and the Pentagon urging none.

Identical bills by Abzug and Dellums would grant automatic unconditional blanket amnesty to deserters, draft resisters and nonviolent war protesters and set up an amnesty board to determine other war-related violations to get amnesty.

"These young men have already paid a huge price for this exercise of conscience," Ms. Abzug said, contending they suffered exile, underground existence and in some cases jail.

"They should not be penalized further for their refusal or inability to support an illegal and unconstitutional war and what many now view as the most immoral war in our history."

But Lt. Gen. Leo E. Benade, a deputy assistant secretary of defense, said the Pentagon opposes any form of amnesty as unfair to the men who served and as a dangerous precedent.

"The alternatives were clear at the time a choice was made and an individual should be required to face the consequences of the choice he made," Benade said.

In between the automatic blanket amnesty and no-amnesty measures are bills that would grant amnesty in return for two years' service either automatically or on a case-by-case basis.

Convert barn for the Lord's work

By SCOTT ROSS

My wife Nedra and I stood looking at the three inches of ice on the kitchen floor of our trailer. I could tell from the ice cascade just where the water pipes had broken in the minus-20-degree temperature.

I took our baby from Nedra's arms and said, "That settles it. Go pack; I'm sending you and the baby back to New York City."

I was a very puzzled guy that evening as I waited for my cue to go on the air. Had it been wrong, this dream of starting a Christian radio show aimed at college kids?

And so far — till we were frozen out of our home — it had seemed like God was in it. Getting this FM outlet here in Ithaca, for example, within broadcast radius of a dozen big schools and universities. All my early training and experience.

Before my conversion I had been a disc jockey in New York, involved with drugs and booze and women and very fast living, all my body could take.

Then when the miracle happened and I discovered that Jesus loved me just as He found me, I had this fantastic need to tell other people the good news — especially young people.

And the kids had liked the show from the start.

Radio newsmen will leave Sedalia area

News directors at both Sedalia radio stations will step down from their jobs later this month.

Gary Edwards, of KDRO radio, will leave March 20 to become a newsmen with WSOE radio in Charlotte, N.C. The station is owned by Cox Broadcasting.

Rich Spencer, of KSIS radio, will step down on March 23 to accept a job as newsmen with KFEQ radio in St. Joseph, Mo.

Edwards, from Poplar Bluff, has been news director at KDRO since March, 1970. He graduated from School of the Ozarks college at Point Lookout, Mo.

Spencer, a native of New Albany, Ind., and a graduate of Indiana University, has been news director at KSIS since June last year.

Both Spencer and Edwards said no permanent replacements have been named for them yet.

Many downhill skiers, beginners and veterans alike, their enthusiasm frosted by long waits for the ski tow and by traffic jams on the ski slopes, have turned to cheaper, freer cross-country skiing, the National Geographic Society says.

The light flashed. I sat down at the microphone. And to my surprise, found myself talking about my own bewilderment.

How we thought we'd had guidance to come up here, but how we now had an ice pond instead of a kitchen floor, and a sick baby. "If any of you know of a nice warm apartment for rent — cheap — please phone me here at the station."

What I didn't know at the time was that I was still a rank beginner at this matter of finding God's guidance — but that He was about to put me through a crash course.

A few minutes before I went on the air that night, a 50-year-old widow named Peg Hardesty who lived on a farm 10 miles outside Ithaca started having trouble with her AM radio.

Peg rarely listened to FM, but on this particular evening she had no choice; and while she was twirling the dial, she stumbled onto our program and heard my plea for a place to live. Peg phoned the station to say there was a barn on the farm that nobody used much anymore. "Maybe you should come take a look at it."

So next morning I went. And there it stood, a very big barn. But what would I ever do with a rundown drafty old barn?

And then I discovered another kind of guidance — the persistent, nagging thought that won't let you alone. I couldn't get that stupid barn out of my mind. Even a week later when I did find an apartment and called Nedra to bring the baby back, I kept thinking about that huge old building.

A week after Nedra's return I took a plane out of Ithaca airport. As the aircraft took off I looked down and saw — what else but the Hardesty farm! There was the barn and the 30 acres with the pond and the farmhouse close to the road.

And just as we passed overhead, it happened — guidance so clear it was as though a voice had spoken. The Lord whispered in my heart that He had special plans for that barn down there. It would be a place from which the Gospel would be proclaimed. As the radio show attracted people who couldn't hear ordinary religious language, the barn would attract those who wouldn't enter an ordinary church.

A few days later I was at the farm again. Mrs. Hardesty welcomed me. She said if I didn't want the barn for a place to live, maybe there was some other way I could see it. She suggested I go out to the barn and see if any ideas came.

So that's just what I did. I walked through the wide, sagging doors and started to work. "Lord, You show me," I said. I picked up a lot of old boards and threw them out.

The next day I was out again, this time shoveling away at the manure that had built up in the cow stalls.

Scott Ross

I was discovering another principle of guidance: When you can't see the whole road ahead, take just the next step. Each day as I worked, He would give me instructions for the following day, never more.

I began shoveling in February; it wasn't until the middle of April that He let me see where we were going. I was standing in the hayloft when it happened. The room where I stood — filled with sweet smelling hay and birds and mice was where the bandstand would go. The audience would sit above it on seats built between the rafters. A kitchen back there, and coffee bar in the harness room.

"But Lord, if this is really Your plan, maybe You could send me some help because I've never used a hammer and nails in my life."

And then He reminded me of my radio program. So I started talking on the air about Peg and her barn and what it seemed the Lord was beginning to build. Sure enough people began to show up from everywhere.

Right from the first Nedra and I accepted the fact that each one who came to the barn that we now called Love Inn had been drawn there by the Holy Spirit Himself. This made him very special indeed.

Sometimes a person would stay with us overnight and then move on. Maybe we would hear from him by postcard from some obscure town. "I'm sure about Jesus now. Thanks."

God is finding His people by the dozens, by the scores, by the hundreds. It has been a fascinating experience, being led by His hand.

Today, three years after Peg Hardesty had that trouble with her AM radio, the barn is packed every weekend night. The plank seats hold all kinds of people. They come, and they go out full of life because at Love Inn they find Him. Which is what the Holy Spirit had in mind all along.

WORLD ALMANAC
FACTS

Alexander H. Stephens of Georgia was vice president of the Confederacy despite his previous opposition to secession. Stephens also opposed many of Confederate President Jefferson Davis' policies, especially those which granted him extra-constitutional war powers and allowed suspension of the writ of habeas corpus to permit otherwise illegal imprisonment. The World Almanac recalls.

Art Buchwald

Push to refinance the President

WASHINGTON — Mr. Maurice Dirk, a lifelong admirer of President Nixon, has just started a new organization called the Committee to Refinance the American President.

Buchwald

In his plush offices on Pennsylvania Avenue, Mr. Dirk told me, "From all indications President Nixon will have to pay anywhere from $350,000 to $500,000 in back taxes, that is to say money that he deducted which probably will be disallowed. Now to the average person that may not be much, but for the President this is a large sum of money. I think we, as Americans, should get together and pay the back taxes for him."

"I'm all for it, but how do we do it?" I asked.

"The easiest thing would be for Congress to pass a law making it possible for everyone filing a tax return to check off $1 on OUR taxes to pay the President's penalties. In that way all the IRS would have to do is transfer the money from one account to the other."

"I'm not sure Congress would do that."

"Neither am I," Mr. Dirk said. "That's why I started the Committee to Refinance the American President. It would give companies such as ITT, Gulf and American Shipbuilding, as well as public interest groups like the American Milk Producers Industry and individuals like Robert Vesco a chance to show how much the presidency means to them. It would be an opportunity for everyone to become directly involved with the President's tax problems and share in restoring our faith in the American system."

"There are some American people who might balk," I warned Dirk.

"They will until they realize what is at stake. The worst way you could cripple the American presidency is to make the leaders of the nation pay back taxes. How can the President concentrate on the great problems of the world when the Internal Revenue Service puts a lien on his salary? Suppose the IRS decides to take San Clemente or Key Biscayne away from Mr. Nixon?"

"If you make him pay back all the money the IRS says is due them, the President will have to change his lifestyle. He will be unable to give dinners for heads of state or congressmen. He will have to cut out trips to Camp David. The IRS would put him on an allowance and that would be the end of taking his family to Trader Vic's. They might even make the President get rid of a couple of his dogs. You don't know how vindictive the IRS can be when they go after you."

"It makes you sick when you think of it," I said.

"The question the American people must ask themselves is do we want a poverty-stricken President who eventually will have to apply for welfare, or do we want one who is free of the tax burdens that affect the rest of us?"

"There is no question in my mind," I told Dirk.

"The Committee to Refinance the American President will launch a nationwide appeal this month to coincide with the 1974 tax season which, as you know, ends on April 15. We will ask Americans as they fill out their returns to remember Mr. Nixon's tax problems, and to ask themselves not what the President can do for them but what they can do for the President."

"I'm sure you'll be oversubscribed," I said. "Does the President know you've started this organization?"

"No," said Dirk, "and everyone in the White House has orders not to tell him."

Shop talk on press
problems

By JAMES J. KILPATRICK

WASHINGTON — This is shop talk, but it is shop talk of concern beyond the editorial offices of a newspaper. I mean to voice an apprehension that freedom of the press is in considerable danger these days, and to suggest that those of us who live by the printed word had better try harder to explain our position to the people.

Kilpatrick

This is not a novel theme. When the startling case of Tornillo v. the Miami Herald began working its way through the Florida courts a couple of years ago, the signs of an approaching storm were as visible as Elijah's cloud in the distant sky. Recent events indicate that the cloud grows larger, and the storm gets nearer.

In January, Arkansas' respected Sen. John McClellan directed national attention to the Florida case, which had just been accepted for Supreme Court review. He recommended that the Senate give "careful study and consideration to the possibility of enacting a national law similar to the Florida statute." That is to say, McClellan recommended a national "right to reply" law, which would compel publications to print replies from persons who felt aggrieved by published criticism of them.

On March 7, President Nixon sent a message to Congress that appeared to echo some of McClellan's thinking. The President hoisted a trial balloon on the matter of a federal libel law. Washington reporters began to speculate that Nixon also is toying with the notion of a congressional act requiring newspapers to extend a "right to reply" in the case of federal officeholders or candidates for federal office.

Some notice ought also to be directed to the Supreme Court's holding in the famous Pentagon Papers case of 1971, in which six of the justices indicated that under certain circumstances a newspaper could be prevented from publishing certain material. This ominous attitude was confirmed by implication a few months ago, when the court refused to review a Louisiana case in which two reporters were fined for publishing an account of a court proceeding in violation of a judge's decree.

What the President is urging is a reversal, or at least a major modification, of the doctrines laid down by the Supreme Court 10 years ago this month in the case of Times v. Sullivan. That was the case in which Justice Brennan, speaking for a unanimous court, defined a "national commitment to the principle that debate on public issues should be uninhibited, robust, and wide open, and that it may include vehement, caustic, and sometimes unpleasantly sharp attacks on government and public officials."

The court held that a public official could not recover damages for defamatory falsehood relating to his official conduct "unless he proves that the statement was made with actual malice, that is, with knowledge that it was false or with reckless disregard of whether it was false or not."

The "Times Rule," as it became known, subsequently was broadened in a series of related decisions extending the rule to public figures generally. This is the rule that Nixon pronounced last week as "virtually a license to lie where a political candidate, a member of his family, or one of his supporters or friends is involved."

I have myself expressed the view that the court has over-extended the Times Rule. The doctrine gives the press rather more freedom than we truly ought to have. But the thought of a "federal libel law" or a "federal right to reply law" raises towering questions of First Amendment freedoms. It is inconceivable that such enactments could survive constitutional challenge.

But is it inconceivable? We of the press are not widely loved. Politicians would like nothing better than to see public criticism suppressed. If a free press is to survive as a Jeffersonian "bulwark of liberty," strenuous efforts will have to be made to explain the enduring value of our First Amendment freedoms. What began two years ago as a cloud no larger than a man's hand is turning into a thunderhead of sudden, perilous concern.

The amnesty issue

Should Congress legislate some form of amnesty that would permit Vietnam draft evaders and deserters to return to the United States?

This question is the subject of hearings before a House subcommittee. A representative of the armed forces testified Wednesday, unequivocally opposing amnesty.

Lt. Gen. Leo E. Benade said amnesty would "dangerously impair any future draft, undermine military justice and hurt military morale and discipline." He said draft evaders and deserters made a clear choice at the time, and should now face the consequences.

For each young man who refused to serve during the Vietnam war, someone took his place. And as General Benade pointed out, some of those are now dead, or permanently disabled.

While their surrogates were fighting and dying in the jungles of Vietnam, those they replaced were making pronouncements from Sweden, Canada, or other havens about the "criminal" war the U.S. was fighting. Far from repentant, most retain their attitudes of moral superiority to this day.

The nation should not demand revenge, neither should it grant full pardon. It should require justice.

The devil as boxoffice

It was bound to happen. As a result of the publicity overkill surrounding "The Exorcist," everybody seems to be getting on the devil's bandwagon.

Two quickie "Exorcist"-inspired pictures, "The Devil's Nightmare" and "In the Devil's Garden," are showing in Kansas City. Television is reportedly gearing up to cash in on the occult explosion, and even a sequel to "The Exorcist" is in the works.

Books on the black arts are also big business, and several colleges and universities have set up courses in the occult.

The Christian writer C.S. Lewis has observed that mankind can make two fundamental mistakes when it comes to the devil: by refusing to believe in his existence, or by expressing in inordinate and unhealthy interest in him.

America appears guilty on both counts.

WASHINGTON — Despite the deliberate slaughter of thousands of tribal rivals by the Burundi government, the Nixon administration has quietly started normalizing relations with the Central African state.

The thaw coincides with the discovery of vast nickel deposits in Burundi, worth an estimated $14 billion.

Until this past January, the United States pursued a policy of "minimal relations" with Burundi. But since the nickel strike, agents representing U.S. corporations have swarmed into the tiny nation and overnight the repressive Burundi government has become a courted friend.

The administration's sudden change of attitude toward Burundi is spelled out in classified State Department documents, which we have seen.

A recent State Department memorandum to the White House, written by top official Thomas Pickering, now ambassador to Jordan, argued that "normalization" of official relations would provide "opportunities for American corporations that are interested in exploiting the major new mineral discovery."

American businessmen also smell oil in Burundi. As Pickering put it, the resumption of U.S. aid and cultural programs might also earn "concessions for American companies who believe there may be hydrocarbon deposits (oil) on the eastern shore of Lake Tanganyika."

"In view of the foregoing," concluded Pickering, "the Department requests NSC (National Security Council) concurrence in the normalization of relations with Burundi."

The White House responded in a secret memo, dated Jan. 29, 1974, from Maj. Gen. Brent Scowcroft, who is Henry Kissinger's chief deputy in the White House: "President Nixon has authorized

Merry-go-round

U.S. thaw follows

Department of State to begin the normalization of relations."

The new Burundi policy, which some State Department insiders irreverently refer to as "nickel politics," restores official U.S. blessings to a government which, over the past two years, has engaged in mass genocide on a scale the world has not seen since Adolf Hitler tried to wipe out the Jews during World War II.

Beginning in early May 1972, the ruling Tutsi tribe undertook the systematic slaughter of their ethnic rivals, the Hutus, who outnumber the tall, statuesque Tutsis by more than six to one.

The Tutsis literally went crazy with revenge after an attempted Hutu coup and used bullets, bulldozers and sledgehammers to massacre the Hutus. By late 1973, over 200,000 Hutus were dead; another 100,000 had been driven into exile.

Last June, we reported that the State Department had engaged in diplomatic dawdling while the blood flowed. Instead of issuing a public protest, the United States chose "quiet diplomatic pressure," which failed utterly to alleviate the carnage.

In an airgram to Washington, dated March 20, 1973, American Ambassador to Burundi Robert L. Yost reported that "a very high degree of antagonism and suspicion continues between the Hutu and Tutsi communities."

Yost assured Washington, however, that the Tutsi rulers had decided "not to proceed further with organized killing." This was a change, Yost claimed, which was due in part to "the strong disapproval of the U.S. government of the events of last year." (The "events" is a term which frequently turns up in the Burundi papers and is apparently a diplomatic euphemism for the genocide.)

Yost recommended resuming normal relations. He bolstered his argument in a confidential "action paper" which he filed from Burundi on Jan. 11. Among the new "U.S. policy objectives" he listed was this one:

"To promote viable U.S. investment. This has assumed particular importance with the appearance of a UN survey report indicating the possible presence in Burundi of one of the world's major nickel deposits."

General Scowcroft cautioned us against publishing excerpts from the incriminating documents. "This is sensitive material," he said, affecting U.S. relations with Burundi. However, we believe the public is entitled to know that the U.S. for the sake of corporate concessions is courting a nation guilty of genocide.

Scowcroft said he saw nothing wrong with promoting U.S. corporate interests. "That is a function of our embassies overseas," he said.

The general also contended: "I think your emphasis on the nickel is not correct. The thrust of the policy change is that, at the time of the fratricide, we cut back our relations. We continued that for quite some time. Then the embassy reported that Burundi had gotten the message and that our policy had had the appropriate effect."

FOOTNOTE: A full report on the effect of "nickel politics" on U.S. policy toward Burundi will be published in the April issue of Progressive magazine. The author, Roger Morris, a former Kissinger aide, is rapidly becoming the Ralph Nader of foreign affairs. As a program director for the Carnegie Endowment for International Peace, Morris recently coauthored "Disaster in the Desert," an investigative report which described how the United States and the United Nations have bungled food relief to the drought-stricken countries of Western Africa.

MacDuff, the best player in Scotland, looked over dummy carefully and remarked to MacBeth, the dummy, "Your friends the witches must have told you this is the time to overbid. Fortunately, I have a lot of extra values and we may come out all right." At first glance it looks as if the slam depends on a successful heart finesse. MacDuff had seen this, but he suspected the finesse would be wrong. He planned to make the hand anyway. Look over the hand carefully and see if you can figure out how he handled it. MacDuff used a dummy reversal. At trick two he ruffed one of dummy's spades. Then he played two rounds of trumps stopping in dummy. His reason for this was to guard against the possibility of a 4-1 trump break. Trumps broke 3-2 so he proceeded to ruff another spade with his next to last trump; over to dummy with a diamond to ruff the last spade with his last trump. Back to dummy with the second diamond to play out dummy's last trump. This drew the last trump and gave him a chance to chuck his nine of hearts. The ace of hearts and three diamonds took the rest of the tricks.

UCLA vs. Dayton

NCAA regional tournaments begin tonight

By KEN RAPPOPORT
AP Sports Writer

The heavyweights come out fighting tonight in Round Two of the NCAA basketball playoffs.

Sixteen of the nation's best college teams, including that old smoothie UCLA, will battle toe-to-toe in arenas across the country.

UCLA, nine-time winner of the national championship, is favored to score a knockout over Dayton's muscled independents in one of the Far West regional games.

In the other one at Tucson, Ariz., it's Western Athletic Conference winner New Mexico vs. San Francisco, king of the West Coast Athletic Conference.

Kansas, the Big Eight champion, meets independent toughie Creighton, while Missouri Valley Conference champ Louisville takes on Oral Roberts, another another nonleague team with punch, in the Midwest in Tulsa, Okla.

In the Midwest at Tuscaloosa, Ala., independent Notre Dame faces Michigan, the Big Ten winner, and independent Marquette challenges Vanderbilt, winner of the Southeastern Conference.

The East regionals at Raleigh, N. C., matches independent Pitt against Southern Conference champion Furman and independent Providence with North Carolina State, the Atlantic Coast Conference champion.

While many of the other teams played first-round games last Saturday, UCLA and North Carolina State were busy settling their own conference races. The Pac-8 and ACC traditionally draw first-round byes in the playoffs.

Michigan and Indiana tied for the Big Ten title at the end of the regular season Saturday and the Wolverines won an NCAA berth by beating the Hoosiers in a playoff game Monday night.

Dayton will be an interesting test for UCLA, a team that obviously is not the superteam of past years. The third-ranked Bruins have been beaten three times this season, the first time that's happened in eight years.

The Flyers beat second-ranked Notre Dame by 15 points earlier this season. The Fighting Irish stopped UCLA's fabulous 88-game winning streak last January.

"We will have the same respect for Dayton that we had for Southern Cal," said UCLA Coach John Wooden, referring to the Bruins' 82-52 conference-clincher over the Trojans.

Dayton Coach Don Donohoe goes into this sudden-death game with plans for the powerful Bruins.

"We'd like to have a say in the tempo of the game," said Donohoe. "We don't want to go

No strong favorite in Midwest Regional

TULSA, Okla. (AP) — Ask the coaches about who should win tonight's round in the NCAA Midwest Regionals and nearly all answer, "I don't know."

They're probably not being coy because they mean this Midwest tournament might be the most evenly matched and unpredictable of the four regionals.

There's no basketball giant here. Kansas is ranked 14th, Louisville is 16th, Creighton 19th and Oral Roberts was 20th before a one-point loss last week to Tulsa University.

The ORU-Louisville clash will depend considerably on quickness and a reliance on key individuals.

The Creighton-Kansas game will find key elements in size, muscle and defense. But Sutton thinks "Kansas deserves to be favored over us."

The Kansas-Creighton game begins at 7:05 p.m. with the other game starting at 9:10 p.m.

The championship of the Midwest tourney and the right to advance into the NCAA semifinals will be decided here Saturday afternoon.

in with one extreme, like to hold the ball, but by the same token, we don't want to go like it's the 100 meters in the Olympics, either."

The second game of the Far West regional features a battle of teams with muscle and inside power.

"We hope we don't have to stand toe-to-toe with them," said New Mexico Coach Norm Ellenberger. "If it turns into a boxing match, we'll have to do some work on the weights right away."

San Francisco's Bob Gaillard: "We feel we play aggressive defense. But we're not as aggressive as New Mexico."

Kansas, whose Big Eight Conference also drew a first-round bye, takes on a tough Creighton bunch that beat highly-regarded Marquette, among others, during the regular season. Oral Roberts, a high-powered scoring machine, will be EVANSVILLE, Ind. (AP)—Morgan State, second-ranked in the small college poll, plays No. 15 New Orleans and No. 14 Southwest Missouri battles unranked Assumption tonight in the semifinals of the NCAA College Division basketball tournament.

Morgan topped Bloomsburg State 71-57 Wednesday while New Orleans defeated California-Riverside 83-78. Southwest shaded St. Joseph's of Indiana 80-78 and Assumption beat Norfolk State 89-79. The quarter-final losers were eliminated.

Leading scorer of the day was Wilbur Holland of New Orleans with 38 points. Sub Warren Booker, a freshman, contributed 12 crucial points, four of them in the final two minutes.

New Orleans, 21-7, hit 50 per cent of its floor shots to 47 per cent for Riverside, 21-8.

Knight still ranting as CCA play opens

ST. LOUIS (AP) — Both cheered and chastised, the first Collegiate Commissioners Association basketball tourney gets under way tonight at the cavernous, 19,000-seat Arena with two games.

Whereas the coach of 10th-ranked Indiana called the post-season test "a waste of time," the director of Southern Cal's 15th-ranked forces is an unabashed fan.

Unseeded Indiana of Pennsylvania sneaked into the quarter-finals by edging No. 6 Grand Canyon of Arizona 66-65. No. 7 Midwestern of Texas advanced by clipping St. Thomas of Minnesota 92-78, and No. 8 Augustana of Illinois shaded Washburn of Kansas 57-55.

Alcorn and Hanover get tonight's play under way. St. Mary's runs into Augustana in the second contest followed by West Georgia's scrap with Indiana. Kentucky State plays the late, late game against Midwestern.

Coach Joe Retton of Fairmont watched his team fall behind by 42-32 at the half but pull within six points with 13 minutes, 44 seconds left and then fade away.

"That was the turning point," Retton sighed.

Behind Perry there are Dick Tidrow (14-16), Milt Wilcox (8-10), Tom Timmerman (9-8), Dick Bosman (2-5) and Brent Strom (2-10). Other returning pitchers include Mike Kekich, Tom Hilgendorf, Ray Lamb and Ken Sanders.

Cecil Upshaw, picked up in a trade with the Houston Astros, will be used to boost the Indians' bullpen, which except for Sanders, needs help.

The Pittsburgh Pirates sent Bob Johnson to the Indians and the Tribe will be looking at him as a starter and a reliever. The Indians' infield will remain the same, although Aspromonte is giving John Lowenstein, an outfielder-infielder, a closer look at second base.

Third baseman Buddy Bell, who has already been saddled with the unofficial title of team captain, is one of the Indians' brightest spots. Bell played in the All-Star game last year and turned in a .268 batting average, scoring 86 runs and driving in 59.

Covering the left side of the infield with Bell is shortstop Frank Duffy. Second baseman Jack Brohamer batted .220 last year and that's the reason for Aspromonte's interest in Lowenstein.

In 305 trips to the plate, Lowenstein batted .292, drove in 76 runs and scored 78. First baseman Chris Chambliss has no competition. Chambliss batted .273 last season.

The outfield will again be covered by Oscar Gamble, Hendrick, Rusty Torres, Charlie Spikes and Walt Williams, with Ron Lolich filling in now and then.

playing on its home court against Louisville.

Notre Dame is favored against Michigan, but Fighting Irish Coach Dick Phelps isn't impressed by the favorite's role.

"Just forget rankings and records," said Phelps. "Any of the 16 teams in the regionals can win it all. They all belong there."

Vanderbilt's Roy Skinner

fears Marquette's killer instinct.

"They are very smart, patient and disciplined," he says. "If they get you down, they'll run you into the ground."

North Carolina State's Norm Sloan thinks his top-ranked team is at its height and should give Providence some trouble.

"We are at our greatest peak," said Sloan. "Our goal right now is to beat Providence and win the Eastern regional."

"We'll have to play near-perfect basketball to beat North Carolina State," countered Providence Coach Dave Gavitt.

Furman gained a second-round berth with an upset of South Carolina last Saturday. Pittsburgh won over St. Joseph's, Pa., the Middle Atlantic Conference (University Division) champion.

Fairmont, Gardner-Webb upset in NAAIA tourney

KANSAS CITY (AP) — The St. Mary's Rattlers of Texas and the West Georgia Braves are the mighty mites of the National Association of Intercollegiate Athletics basketball tournament.

The Rattlers, seeded No. 16, rose up Wednesday night and bombed No. 1 Fairmont, W. Va., State 71-55, and No. 14 West Georgia gave No. 3 Gardner-Webb of North Carolina a 116-101 spanking in second round upsets.

These developments established No. 2 Kentucky State, a 75-57 victor over Hastings of Nebraska, the odds-on favorite to win this 37th annual dribble show as it moves into quarter-finals tonight.

If Kentucky State falters, No. 4 Alcorn A&M is waiting in the wings after its 80-72 conquest of Missouri Western. So is No. 5

Little (if any) advancement from Tribe expected in '74

TUCSON, Ariz. (AP) — The Cleveland Indians led the American League in home runs last season, but their initiative stopped right there.

The Tribe was the East Division's cellar-dweller when the final bell rang and finished the season with a baseball club that made one wonder how it even did that well.

In the later part of the season Manager Ken Aspromonte fined outfielder George Hendrick because he didn't charge a ground ball, there was an altercation between several coaches and a member of the press and a winning streak was three games.

Except for two new pitchers, the squad is the same as last year and it is doubtful that the youngsters on the team will improve enough to bring the club out of the basement.

The Indians are placing a lot of their hopes in an entirely new coaching staff and Aspromonte began the spring training season issuing severe warnings to everyone that they better be in shape and toe the line.

The new coaches are Tony Pacheco and Clay Bryant, who are up from minor league posts, and Larry Doby, a former Indian star. Doby comes to the Tribe from a coaching job with the Montreal Expos.

Doby and Pacheco will handle the general coaching duties and Bryant will work with the pitching staff.

The Indians pitching staff has one strong pitcher and that's 1972 Cy Young Award winner Gaylord Perry. However, his 1973 performance (19-19), although the winningest on the club, was below his previous year's 24-16.

Cardinals push mark to 3-2

ST. PETERSBURG, Fla. (AP) — The St. Louis Cardinals found out Wednesday that you really can't have too much of a good thing.

The good thing for the Cardinals was home runs—they got two of them. The Los Angeles Dodgers got just one, and finished on the short end of a 6-4 Redbird win.

It was the third win in five Grapefruit League games for the Cardinals and their second straight. They were scheduled to tangle with the Dodgers again today in Vero Beach.

Blasting the shots Wednesday for the Cardinals were Ted Sizemore and Ken Reitz. Both came with the bases empty, but gave the Redbirds something to work with when they came from behind with two go-ahead runs in the seventh inning to overcome a 4-3 Dodger lead. St. Louis added an insurance run in the eighth.

The man who put the Cards in the hole was Jimmy Wynn, who blasted a three-run shot in the sixth off Scipio Spinks, the second of three St. Louis pitchers.

But the early connections by Sizemore and Reitz proved to be all the edge the Redbirds needed when Tim McCarver slammed a pinch double off LA reliever Bruce Ellingsen in the seventh and scored on Luis Melendez' double. Melendez reached third when outfielder Willie Crawford mishandled the ball, then scored on Jim Dwyer's single.

St. Louis outit Los Angeles 14-10.

Alan Foster, 13-9 last season, became the first Cardinal pitcher to go five innings this spring, allowing five hits and one run.

Bill Walton named for third time

NEW YORK (AP) — Bill Walton and David Thompson, the premier players on two of America's premier teams, were named today to the Associated Press All-America basketball team for 1974.

Walton, UCLA's golden center, and the graceful Thompson from North Carolina State scored big in the voting by sports writers and broadcasters from around the country.

Joining Walton and Thompson on the AP's glamour team are UCLA's Keith Wilkes, John Shumate of Notre Dame and Providence's Marvin Barnes.

Walton, the most publicized collegian since the days of Lew Alcindor, made the star-studded team for the third straight year. Thompson, often termed the best forward in the country and a sure-fire professional star, was voted on the first team for the second straight season, his junior year.

Wilkes, one of the smartest and smoothest forwards in the country, was on The AP's Second Team last season. Barnes, the nation's leading rebounder with almost 19 a game this year, was an Honorable Mention last year. This is a first time for Shumate, the big wheel in Notre Dame's high-powered offense.

Walton and Thompson, darlings of the professional scouts, were also darlings of the voters. With Walton polling the most votes, the two front-court players scored by a wide margin over Shumate, the third best vote-getter. Wilkes outscored Barnes by an eyelash.

Walton, sometimes as mystifying as he is celebrated, was a tower of strength for the powerful Bruins this year.

Despite a gimpy knee, UCLA's most famous cripple helped the Bruins run their spectacular winning streak to 88 games halfway through the season. Even when losing to Notre Dame in the streakbreaker, he played with injury — and played well.

Thompson, the only non-senior on the first team, was played to a standstill by Wilkes earlier in the season when UCLA beat North Carolina State in their "game of the year." But the flashy forward came back from that performance with All-America class.

The high-leaping Thompson, easily the best player in the Atlantic Coast Conference, brought the "Pack" back from that disastrous showing against UCLA to the top of the college basketball world.

Wilkes, termed "Silk" for his poetic grace, breathed fresh life into UCLA after the Bruins' inexplicable, two-game losing streak at Oregon and Oregon State. Shumate, a muscular center with a great outside shot, led Notre Dame's resurgence this season. And Barnes, a workhorse under the basket, was the primary reason for Providence's berth in the NCAA playoffs.

The AP's Second Team consists of Maryland's John Lucas; Larry Fogle of Canisius; North Carolina's Bobby Jones; Len Elmore of Maryland; and Billy Knight of Pitt.

The third team: Dennis DuVal of Syracuse; Tom McMillen of Maryland; Hawaii's Tom Henderson; North Carolina State's Tom Burleson and Campy Russell of Michigan.

Mayberry, Wohlford each get 4 hits in 12-1 romp

FORT MYERS, Fla. (AP) — The Kansas City Royals, 12-1 victors Wednesday over the Texas Rangers, pit their 4-1 exhibition season record against the Pittsburgh Pirates today.

The Royals pounded out 20 hits against the Rangers, which included a 4-for-4 performance by big John Mayberry and four hits in five trips by left fielder Jim Wohlford.

"Just had a couple of good pitches to hit," said Mayberry, whose production included a 420-foot homer and a stolen base—the latter no small feat for a 220-pound first baseman.

Wohlford was the only starter to play the full nine innings and Manager Jack McKeon indicated he's got the inside track for the left field job. "Wohlford's the best guy out there in left," the manager said. "He loves to play and he wants working time. So why not let him stay out there?"

The Royals' pitching, which surrendered six hits, was done by Marty Pattin, who took the win, Bruce Dal Canton, rookie Randy Hammon and Joe Hoerner.

It was the first competitive hurling for Hoerner, a southpaw specialist, who gave up a pair of singles in the eighth and ninth.

Stover, Warsaw earn berths in semifinals

(Democrat-Capital Service)

STOVER — Host Stover and Warsaw advanced to the semifinals of the Kaysinger Conference Volleyball Tournament Wednesday night with wins over Sacred Heart and Green Ridge respectively in the high school bracket.

In the junior high division, Cole Camp defeated Warsaw 15-12 and then whitewashed the Wildcats 15-0 to earn a semifinal berth. Smithton also gained a slot, winning two of three from Sacred Heart.

Stover took the first game of the match in the senior girls division 15-0 over the Gremlins, but the Bulldogs had to scramble in the second game of the set when Sacred Heart took them into overtime before the hosts could win, 17-15.

Warsaw handled Green Ridge winning 15-9 and 15-6 in consolation action.

Tonight in the senior high division, Northwest takes on Sacred Heart in the consolation bracket, while Smithton and Cole Camp clash for a spot in the finals.

Junior high division action pits Stover against Sacred Heart in the losers bracket; LaMonte faces Green Ridge in the championship bracket.

Games get underway at 6 p.m.

Grems, Whittier post narrow wins

Host Sacred Heart and Whittier earned berths in the consolation final with wins over Jefferson and St. Paul's in the Sedalia Grade School Basketball Tournament Wednesday night. Sacred Heart edged Jefferson 24-20, and Whittier nipped St. Paul's 27-24.

In tonight's championship semifinals, Horace Mann will take on Mark Twain and Striped College will face Washington.

David Merrick shifts to films

LOS ANGELES (AP) — David Merrick, who seems to enjoy his reputation as the Abominable Showman of Broadway, has shifted his emphasis to films, but his style remains the same.

When "Sugar" left New York last June, it was the first time in 18½ years that David Merrick shows were missing from the Broadway theater. The reason for the lapse: Merrick was producing a $6.5 million film, "The Great Gatsby."

"I would still be represented on Broadway, except that 'Gatsby' was postponed for a year and a half," the producer remarked during a visit here.

Merrick refused to part with "Gatsby." But since he owned only the United States rights and Paramount owned foreign rights, he agreed to produce the film for the company, with Ali MacGraw and Robert Redford as stars.

With some delight, he related his experience with the F. Scott Fitzgerald opus.

Paramount, which had made 1926 and 1947 versions of the tale, had allowed its ownership to lapse, and Merrick bought the film rights from Fitzgerald's daughter. But then Ali MacGraw, wife of Paramount filming chief Robert Evans, announced that she wanted to play the Fitzgerald heroine.

"The whole motive for doing the picture was Ali," said Merrick. "Bob Evans wanted it badly, and he said he was making me an offer I couldn't refuse. I hadn't seen 'The Godfather' yet, so I didn't know that was a threat."

Merrick refused to part with "Gatsby." But since he owned only the United States rights and Paramount owned foreign rights, he agreed to produce the film for the company, with Ali MacGraw and Robert Redford as stars.

"Then Ali went to Bob Evans and said she was leaving him for Steve McQueen," Merrick continued. "That removed the reason for making 'The Great Gatsby.'"

Charles Bluhorn, head of Paramount's parent company, Gulf & Western, resisted Merrick's efforts to get the project moving again, said the producer. "He was afraid of runaway expense, because he had been stung on 'Paint Your Wagon,' 'Catch 22,' and 'Darling Lili,'" Merrick explained.

He and director Jack Clayton assured Bluhorn that "Gatsby" could be filmed in 81 days at a cost of $6.5 million, including a half-million for the delay. It was shot in 74 days, with Mia Farrow replacing the former Mrs. Evans.

Never one to shrink from publicity, Merrick came West to extol his second film (the first, "Child's Play" was a flop).

"If you don't like 'Gatsby,'" he says challengingly, "then your taste is terrible." Merrick is preparing another film, "Promises, Promises," for 20th Century-Fox, a company with which he once had a running feud. Is he giving up the theater?

If gas pains persist, try Volkswagen.

A VW goes a long way in relieving gas problems—by getting terrific gas mileage. It also relieves those little headaches—by needing pints of oil instead of quarts. And not needing antifreeze because of its air-cooled engine. Plus it gets rid of nervous upsets due to owning a new car. With Volkswagen's Owner's Security Blanket, you're provided with the best care any car can have...in sickness and in health. The fact is that Volkswagen can cure lots of problems that most cars can't. Maybe you should take two.

SALUTING 55 YEARS of SERVICE for GOD & COUNTRY!

"Happy Birthday, The American Legion"

With A National Membership
Now Standing
At ...
2.7 Million.

March 15th to 17th
1919-1974

A TRIBUTE...

TO THE IDEALS AND EFFORTS OF THE MEN & WOMEN OF...

THE AMERICAN LEGION

Locally Represented By Pettis County Post No. 16
and Clay T. Henderson Post No. 98 of Sedalia.

A GROWING FAITH IN THE FUTURE OF OUR NATION is only a part of the creed of the American Legion. Nothing that totalitarian governments can do will shake that faith. It is as steadfast as our faith in our Creator. Founded in 1919, the American Legion has been a bulwark of defense against the isms of the world ... dedicated to justice, freedom, and the democratic way of life. We extend Birthday greetings to the American Legion and pay tribute to these soldiers-out-of-uniform ... their ideals, their Americanism programs, and their many civic projects. Again, we thank them for all they have done for us.

We especially honor these local men, as a fine example of the kind of continuous membership service and support we are talking about; as rendered by them to the American Legion, down through the years:
